ACHS bus drivers out, custodians next

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The bus drivers of Antioch Community High School received the final word last week at the Board of Education meeting. Laidlaw, of Kenosha, Wis., has received the school's transportation contract. However many teachers, custodians, bus drivers, and residents spoke out against the contracting of transportation services.

"The teachers feel very strongly about maintaining the current support staff," said Norman Hahn, a teacher and coach at the school. "Contracting out is a mistake. I am not convinced the conditions here have worsened.

"No negotiations have taken place," Hahn continued. "They (the bus drivers) were allowed to make a presentation, but not allowed to ask questions. . . . Let's try to work this out in-house. The teachers support that. We ask the board to set up a negotiation."

Other speakers indicated that they felt the board was acting too quickly and was not thoroughly investigating the contracting companies. Bel-Rae, the custodial contractor an earlier committee had recommended, has been dropped from consideration after one of the bus drivers had checked their track record and reported what she had learned to the school board.

"I would like to suggest to the board to come up with a committee," said Steve Brown, a custodian at the school. "I truly believe that this is an idea that has been looked at too quickly."

Bus drivers also made mention of the fact that a Laidlaw bus and driver had recently been involved in an accident in which 17 children were taken to the hospital. According to newspaper reports, while none of the children were seriously injured, the bus did tip over.

"A Laidlaw bus driver tipped over a bus injuring 17 students. Even I have never done anything like that," quipped Diane Rudis, a bus driver at the school. "I just want you to open up and listen to the people. You did not look See ACHS pageA10

Suspicious device found near fire site

What fire department officials are describing as a "device," may provide the answers to the Loon Lake Landing fire last November. At this time, the investigation of the fire in Antioch Township is still ongoing.

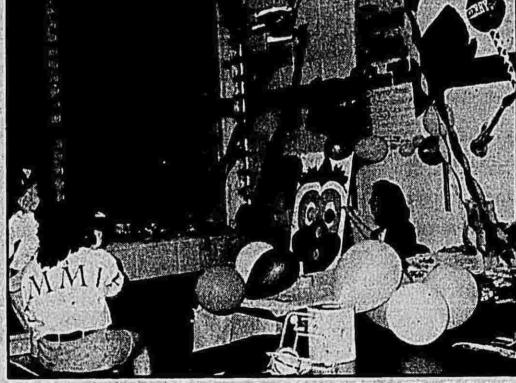

"It was found east of the building in a field," said a representative from the fire department. "I believe it will aid in the investigation by the Lake County Sheriff's Department." The device was discovered by a Loon Lake resident who then called the fire department.

The fire, which was discovered at about 6 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 30, 1993, completely destroyed the restaurant. The Lake County Sheriff's Department is See FIRE page A10

St. Peter's Fun Fest is hit with kids

The eighth-graders of St. Peters School held a fun fair festival last weekend that delighted younger children as well as filled up area fish tanks and bowls. The students hold the fair to raise money for their annual class trip.

Dozens of carnival games were set up and run by the students. The games were targeted for younger children. Best of all, no child left without winning at least one goldfish.

Food and beverages were also served during the fair, and all the kids seemed to be having a ball.—by MARY FOLD?

Waterway to get new name, control pollution

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

The Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency will more than likely get a shorter, sweeter name within the next two weeks.

If a bill sponsored by state Rep. Bob Churchill of Antioch gets approved by the full House, the agency will be called the Fox Waterway Agency.

This is one reporter whowon't miss the longer version.

Other changes include allowing it to govern pollution and speed limits on the waterway.

It gives the agency the authority to adopt ordinances governing the river from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line to the Algonquin Dam—just a clarification of what it's always had the power to do, according to Karen Kabbes, executive director.

Crystal Lake state Rep. Cal Skinner condemns the bill saying it would allow the agency toborder on creating a sanitary district that would control septic tanks along the river, thus causing a "revolution" among Fox River homeowners.

"It would put them in charge of pollution in the Fox Lake's watersheds, but I'm confident the current (agency) board doesn't intend to do that," said Skinner.

Skinner said he would like to see the language on the bill clarified.

Executive Director of the agency, Karen Kabbes rebutted Skinner's beliefs. "In no way are we looking at creating a sanitary district."

"Sometimes to attack problems (with pollution), you have to look further down the line," explained Kabbes.

Three major concerns with the pollution on the Chain and river are all land-based issues See WATERWAY page A10

Freshman sports may return to ACHS

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

One bright spot at Antioch Community High School next year could be the re-institution of freshman sports. The program, which was cut as the school began to face financial difficulties, may be returned as a selfsupporting program.

"I am here to appeal to you to freshman sports reinstate through parental support and fund raising," said Diane Hughes, who lives in Antioch and is a teacher at Warren Newport High School. "I am tired of hearing about all the negative. We have some very energetic parents out here." After the school board came out of closed session last week at the regular board meeting, they had some good news for Hughes.

"There seems to be a great deal of support and interest from the community," said school

Zoning appeal to be heard on senior housing

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Judge Steven Walters will be reviewing the denial, by the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals, to grant a variance to the Antioch Country Inn on April 29. A variance was needed to build an assistedliving residence for senior citizens on Grass Lake Road because of the unavailability of sewers and water.

The developers would also need to cut down a large amount of trees to build the facility. Residents living near the proposed site objected to the center and those testifying at the public hearings were named as defendants in the administrative review.

"I think it is a great idea. We need senior housing," said County Board Member Suzi Schmidt. "However, the problem is the septic fields and the loss of trees."

The contract owner of the property is Virginia Ross, who is executive director for New Life Options for the Vital Elderly. The Antioch Country Inn project would include private rooms, 17 acres of wooded grounds and gardens in a "bed and breakfast" style of living. It is projected to cost residents less than 40-60 percent below traditional nurs-

Briefs

Probationary period extended

The probationary period for new Antioch Police officers has been extended from 12 months to 18 months. The time was extended upon a request from Police Chief Miller because new officers are in school for 10 weeks, reducing the time to evaluate a new officer to only 9 1/2 months. The police union signed off on the request and the Antioch Village Board has approved the extension.

Lots of water

Last week's fire on Route 45 had an impact on more than the owner of the property. The Village of Antioch received a number of calls regarding rusty water. The "red" water was a result of the over 150,000 gallons of water needed to put out the fire. Hydrant flushing will begin May 1.

Yard waste pick-up begins
The seasonal lawn refuse pick-up begins this month in Antioch. Residents are reminded that lawn refuse pick-up will be on the same day as their regular garbage pick-up times.

Village, township may combine newsletter

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Village of Antioch trustees are considering the possibility of including the proposed township newsletter with current village newsletter. The village mails a monthly newsletter to village residents but includes the township several times a year during holiday events.

"The cost of the addition would not increase the mailing costs because there is a leeway with the bulk rate," explained Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "They (the township) will be picking up the additional page and we would not have to pay for the two township mailings. We would save money."

However, the trustees of the village want to see the township newsletter before any action is taken. There has not been a formal proposal from the township.

The township newsletter caused a great deal of controversy within the township board. Originally, the first edition of the newsletter was to be sent out in the early spring. An argument broke out between Township Supervisor Jim Fields and Trustee Claudette Skvarce after a scheduled meeting regarding the timing of the newsletter.

After that argument, no new date was set for the newsletter. When Skvarce asked, during a pre-budget meeting, about the purchase of a bulk mail stamp, she was told by Fields about the proposed coordinated effort.

"Because it is going to go into our mailing, we will have editorial control," suggested Village Trustee Wayne Foresta. "I would like to see a formal proposal."

Woodcrest Association elects officers, sets dues

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The reformed Woodcrest Association has elected officers to head up the organization this month. At a general membership meeting, held at the old Channel Lake School in Antioch Township, dues were set at $50 a year.

At this time, the dues will be used to purchase liability insurance as well as other needs. Carol Jonites, a treasurer from Felter's Association, a neighboring group, told the audience of that association's experience with liability.

"Three or four years ago someone had a party at our clubhouse. A man jumped off the pier into two feet of water," Jonites told the homeowners. "The man sued and got $250,000. Believe it or not, they can come back at you. You have been very lucky."

After mailing out over 190 letters to homeowners within the subdivision, a large group showed up for the Saturday morning meeting. Two representatives from the insurance field also spoke to the group.

"In order to cover us, we are going to open up a bank account," said Bill Liniewicz. "After we start a bank account, we will send out a bill or invoice to the membership. Minimally, to start with, including insurance, postage, recording fees, etc. . ., we should assess people $50."

The group also has decided to investigate garbage pick-up service for those interested in a group rate within the subdivision. Costs currently range from $208 per year to $308 a year for homeowners. According to Jonites, getting a group rate could represent a savings of more than half the cost. If garbage service is added to the dues, homeowners could expect an increase in the yearly association assessment.

In other action, two new members were added to the board of directors. Emmerich has taken the place of Dawn Jones. Jones is engaged to a homeowner in the subdivision but has not yet married, making her ineligible to hold the position. Steve Kauz has also been added to the board.

Bill Liniewicz has been elected president of the association with Phil Gance as vice preseident. Shirley Boring is the new secretary, Charlie Gerage is treasurer, and sergeant at arms is Ed Wukits.

The association is currently involved in litigation to reclaim the common beach and park areas. It was discovered that a property owner in the subdivision had included the common areas in a trust deed, thereby causing a cloud on the title. The group is seeking a temporary restraining order as soon as possible.

The next meeting of the membership is scheduled for May 14 at 9:30 a.m. at the school. At that time, more information will be available about the liability insurance and the progress of the litigation.

Go fly a kite at the park

Keep your calendar clear on Saturday, May 7, for Antioch's first annual "Go fly a kite" celebration.

To start off the event, professional kite flyers will be on hand at Williams Park for workshops every half hour from 10 a.m. to noon. The kite fly begins at 1:30 p.m. Those that arrive early at the Antioch Community High School practice fields will receive a free kite. Then, its up-up-and-away. Join your neighbors for this great family event that will include food, refreshments, recreation, and fun.

There will be kite decorating contests, kite flying contests, and a great time for everyone. The practice fields are located on Route 173 east of Route 83.

The event is co-sponsored by Community Action Now (CAN) and the Advertiser.

Parental reminder

Just a reminder to parents that there are only 31 days left of school for District 34 students. The district submitted its final amended calendar to the regional superintendent's office. School is scheduled to end June 7. For the more forward thinking, school is scheduled to reopen on Wednesday, Aug. 31. Christmas vacation will begin December 17 through January 1, and spring vacation for 1995 will be March 27 through March 31.

Achievement tests

Oakland, Emmons, and Antioch Grade School's 2nd and 3rd graders will be taking the Metropolitan Achievement Tests on April 26, 27, and 28. Individual test scores will be available to parents in the fall. The schools recommend that parents make sure children get plenty of sleep each night and eat a good, healthy breakfast so that students can do their very best on these tests.

Oakland's music program
On May 5 at 7 p.m., third grade students of Oakland School will present a musical program at the school. Children should be at the school at 6:45 and the public is invited to attend.

Waterway considers end to sheriff patrols

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

The Fox Waterway Agency (new name) has been talking to the men with the gold badges.

Attempting to downplay the issue, Agency Executive Director Karen Kabbes said there have been discussions with both McHenry County and Lake County sheriff departments regarding their contracts and various options.

Kabbes explained options include eliminating the costly contracts altogether. "But we'll look very seriously before doing that," she said.

Another option would be to reduce the amount of funding for the $40,000 a year contract for Lake and $30,000 a year for McHenry.

"We knew money would be tight (this year)," explained Kabbes abut the reason for considering the budget cuts.

Talks between the agency and the sheriffs marine units, who patrol the lakes and river, have been going on since February.

If the agency does decide to do away with the longtime sheriffs contracts, their plan is to patrol the waters themselves.

"There's always a fine line with law enforcement and being courteous," explained the director.

Kabbes said one of the big reasons for the possible future change in law enforcement may be because the agency received a lot of concerns from boaters about being stopped and harassed by police.

"During the campaign people raised questions about patrol and how they deal with boaters. We want to make sure this stays a recreational area, and we want them (boaters) to enjoy the tourism," Kabbes said.

"We don't want to make a big deal of it. We're hoping to work it out with the sheriff's," stated Kabbes.

Former Superintendent Bill Hart pays visit to Grass Lake School

Blast from past

When my daughter, Donna, was in the first grade at Grass Lake School, a young, new Superintendent came into being. His name was Bill Hart. He continued on at Grass Lake School up to and including Donna's sixth grade class experience—six years. I also had the pleasure of working under Bill's administration, first as a playground supervisor and later as a teacher's aide. I have fond memories of his tenure in our district. I particularly remember how much he cared for the children and people in general.

It has been approximately seventeen years since I have seen Bill. During a recent visit to the school, I noticed a tall, welldressed gentleman at the front office, but I did not realize it was him. Later, when I heard him talking with teacher, Joan Larson, who was in the district during his administration, I suddenly recognized his voice. I gave him a warm hello (Lizard style) and when he turned to meet my salutation, he hesitated before speaking my name.

I was impressed that he remembered me, after all of these years (the fact that I was wearing a name tag never entered my mind). I escorted him on his continuing tour of the building and enjoyed conversation revolving around people and situations from the past. It was like going back into time, both a little older

Northern Las Vegas

If you have been reading "Hometown Goodies" for a period of time, you may recall my story about our first visit to the Lac View Dessert Indian Casino in Watersmeet, Michigan. I was expecting Las Vegas. Instead I referred to it as a poll barn in the wilderness.

Since that time, about three years ago, they have expanded twice. Now the casino is three to four times its original size.

I've never been to Vegas. However, once I get engrossed in those one-arm bandits located close to our Eagle River home, who needs Vegas and the money I save in plane fare could net me a big win in Watersmeet, Michigan. Does anyone have the phone number Gambler's for Anonymous?

Engagement

Congratulations are in order for Rick Keefer and Dawn Trusky of Antioch who recently became engaged to be married. Both Dawn and Rick are long-time Antioch area residents and both are former ACHS students. Dawn graduated ACHS in 1983 and Rick in 1984. Congratulations to both of you. Please call when the wedding plans are finalized.

Artists

Four year old Emily McCarthy was a big winner in the Jewel/Osco Easter coloring contest sponsored by Crayola Crayon. For her fine artistry, she won a Crayola Sponge Art Kit. Her older sisters Megan and Rebecca, were past winners in the contest. Even little nineteen month old Courtney got into the act this time for her age group. She did not win, but gained the experience necessary to succeed in the future. Congratulations, Emily and hello Megan, Rebecca and Courtney.

Hello

I would like to say hello to Michael Patrick Mulcahy who is busy taking gymnastics with his sister Angela. Michael is also busy perfecting his swimming techniques through the YMCA swim classes. Keep up the great work, Michael, and take care of grandma and grandpa Mulcahy.

Life's changes

I remember when, an evening out with friends always sent me to the phone to check things at the homefront. Phone calls to friends were always answered by the children of the house. I'd identify myself, ask if mom was there, thus the ultimate reply "Ma, it's for you. It's Mrs. Schmehl." Social gatherings when my children were small, were more like small weddings. Summer time always brought with it extra weekend entertaining usually consisting of anywhere from 40 to 80 people, counting the adults present and the various off springs tagging along.

When the kids reached school age, there was always an occasion that warranted a sleep over of ten to fifteen extra little ones bundled up in sleeping gabs on the family room floor. Wintertime brought with it snowmobile outings with hubby and friends that lasted till 3 or 4 in the morning and never being tired. Yes, times change as parents everywhere experience their next life cycle of grown children. There is no longer a need to phone home when out, as no one is there to take the call.

There are no longer any live in receptionists to screen our calls, that's when answering machines and caller ID's come into play. Social gatherings often revolve around the grown children, and if lucky grandchildren, assembling for special occasions. Mass sleepovers are a thing of the past and one is overjoyed/content if and when a grandchild or two spends the night.

In my case, I still enjoy snowmobiling, but that too has changed. I enjoy staying home with the little ones and hearing the adventure stories when the group returns.

Yes, time passes and things change. However, in many ways these are truly the "Golden Years". The years of constant and total realization that life definitely moves along at a fast pace, and more and more one begins to enjoy each and every moment at hand.

Once again, I call it counting one's blessings and stopping long enough to notice and smell all of the beautiful roses in our lives. In my case, I have an entire garden consisting of a great family and many wonderful friends and acquaintances. Life is good!

Family Association talks personal safety

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Personal safety, violence management, and practical selfdefense, were discussed by Dave Beaman, sponsored by the St. Peters Family Association last week. The seminar was well attended by both adults and children, and was chock-full of helpful information.

"Most attackers do not kill their victims," Beaman told the audience. " But, no property is worth getting hurt for."

Beaman's company, Dave Beaman's Progressive Self-Defense Training, offers violence management seminars and practical self-defense training for both adults, teens and children. His training focus is very different than that offered by instructors teaching traditional styles.

"While most of the traditional styles include training that is claimed to be useful for selfdefense purposes, the actual usefulness of this training in an assault situation is very much in doubt," explains Beaman. "This is so for several reasons."

Beaman goes on to explain that much of the traditional training is limited in scope. Some disciplines are limited to teaching the "hard" styles such as kicking or striking techniques. Others are limited to "soft" styles which tend to teach strategies such as ground defenses and joint locking but fail to teach the hard styles.

Another criticism of the traditional program is that there is toogreat an emphasis on the "sporting" aspects of martial arts. "Remember, in a crisis, you will respond the way you train; so, if you want to be able to defend yourself, you must train for defense, not for sport."

Beaman's system is more progressive and broadly based. It is taught in a relaxed atmosphere with students wearing ordinary street clothing and shoes. "It is more realistic to expect that you will have shoes on at the time of an attack," explains Beaman.

Beaman's presentation to the school included a review of personal safety devices he has for sale. Many of the items were inexpensive and easy to use.

Other advice from Beaman included the need to diversify items carried in a purse. He suggested that keys should be put in one pocket, folding money elsewhere, and credit cards in yet another place. Fanny packs, Beaman said, are the safest type of purse to carry.

The program was very helpful and Beaman is available to offer the presentation to area groups and businesses. For more information, call 662-8685.

Jeff Danna, a fourth-grader at W.C. Petty School, won first place in the Smokey the Bear poster contest sponsored by the Conservation Committee of the Antioch Jr. Women's Club, which is part of the Greater Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) of Illinois. The Illinois Department of Conservation also sponsored the contest.

Danna will now travel to Chicago on May 17 to represent the 10th district at the GFWC convention at the Congress Hotel. Second place winner was Lindsay Bolton and in third place was Juliet Marchildon. The three winners received certificates and little bears.

The contest included fourth-graders from all over the state of Illinois. If Danna's poster is chosen at the convention, it will be displayed at the Illinois State Fair in August.

"It was very good," said Faye Anderson, conservation committee chairperson. "The artwork was outstanding."

All the students participating in the program at Petty received certificates from the committee. Other members of the committee included Carolyn Hammond and Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. Danna's teacher is Amy Graesser.

Crane meets with Clinton on China

Eight District Congressman
Philip M. Crane and seven other congressional leaders in the House and Senate on international trade met with President Clinton to discuss renewing most favored nation (MFN) status for China. President Clinton must make a decision on the issue by early June.

Congressman Crane is the ranking (senior) Republican member of the Trade Subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee. He was the only House Republican invited to the meeting.

Illinois annually exports well over $100 million in products to China. Important Illinois exports include paper, chemicals, electronics, machinery, computers and agriculture. One leading exporter is Motorola which is based in Schaumburg in the Eighth Illinois Congressional District.

Congressman Crane favors renewing MFN status for China, although he believes China should improve its human rights position.

"We cannot allow our international competitors to take over the China market which is so important to our economy," Congressman Crane declared. "At the same time, China must continue to grant increased freedom to its citizens."

During the discussion, Congressman Crane pointed out to President Clinton that the ailing former president, Richard Nixon, opened the door to China. The move, he noted, not only reversed the role of a former enemy, but also resulted in the creation of a market for billions of dollars in U.S. trade, and an impressive improvement of conditions for the Chinese people.

Kathy's Cottage gets new owners, new look

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Kathy's Cottage, a unique gift and craft store, has both a new look and new owners. The store, located in the Flo's Hair Design Building on Main Street in Antioch, will have a grand opening May 5, 6, and 7. The grand opening hours will be 10 a.m. to 8

Kathy Carnahan, live in Bristol, Wis. For Kathy, the store is a culmination of her life's ambition.

"The dream of my life, other than Jim, has come true," explains Kathy. "I have been planning my store for years in my mind, so I am really ready for this. The theme is a mid-1800 English cottage of fine quality crafts, gifts, and antiques."

Kathy wants to promote high school and college artists. "The kids need an avenue to move their work for artistic drive, money for field trips and supplies, and, a sense of pride in accomplishment."

The store will also carry unique gift items, pictures, artwork, wood work, ceramics, pottery, metal work, silk florals, frames, decorator items, and antiques. The store will have a special section for wedding accessories, baby and children's items, southwestern hand-crafted items, home decoration items, and so much more.

Kathy will do special orders in silks and dried flowers. New crafters are also coming in and the store will take items on consignment.

The Carnahans are also working with Park Avenue Antiques. There are plans to display some top quality antique pieces in the cottage and some of Kathy's florals can be found in the Antique Mall.

The Carnahan's have been busy remodeling the store both inside and out. They want to achieve a Long Grove-Lake Geneva romantic type look.

"I just laid the floor myself," said Kathy. "I will be using gentle wall paper in the showcase areas.

During the grand opening, everyone is invited to stop by and meet the Carnahan's while browsing. There will be 15 door prizes which have been donated by the crafters of the store. Winners need not be present to win and five prizes will be given out each night. Men's night will be on Friday, May 6, with the Carnahan's on hand to help pick out that special Mother's Day gift.

The regular store hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sunday. The store will be closed on Mondays.

Donation to establish scholarship

Anthony and Fran Heagney of Grayslake have donated a $5,000 endowment to the College of Lake County Foundation to establish a scholarship in memory of their son, Michael, who died last summer. The endowment will be used to fund a food service scholarship for a qualified food service programs student at CLC.

"Michael wanted to become a pastry chef and was a food service student at the College of DuPage. We decided to establish the scholarship in the food service field because it is something our son was interested in. We want someone in our area to benefit from this endowment," said Fran Heagney.

A memorial plaque was presented to the Heagneys during a luncheon ceremony. The plaque is displayed in the Willow Room, a dining facility at the college.

Petty raises $7,300 for computers

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

In an effort to raise money for the W.C. Petty computer lab as well as encourage recreational reading, the school and the PTO sponsored a Read-A-Thon. The students raised $5,300 and Sams Club/Walmart contributed $2,000, for a grand total of $7,300.

The Read-A-Thon was held on Feb. 24 and 25 after school hours.

Students solicited pledges for the number of minutes they would read. A reading session, supervised by the adults, was then held.

At the end of the sessions, students had their times verified. The top earner was a fifth-grader Bradley Porch, who won a boom box for raising $216. Vanessa Kitzerow, Tyler Schaufel, Russell Thompson, Erik Carlberg, Becky Burns, and Jenna Brandt all received a $10 book fair gift certificate for earning over $100 each.

A fine effort was made by all the students, teachers, and parents who participated in the program. A presentation was made last week at the school when representatives of Sams Club made their donation to the computer lab.

Schools get donated computers

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Both Antioch Community
High School and St. Peters
School in Antioch will be receiving new-to-them computers from Baxter International.
Baxter has already donated nine computers to ACHS, currently in use, and will be contributing 40 to 50 more computers to the two schools.

The announcement of the donation came on the heels of allegations that Antioch Community High School had rejected a computer system that had been offered by the Follet College Stores, headquartered in Elmhurst, Ill.

"An offer was made in 1992 of an IBM System 38 with no strings attached," said Cliff Ewert of Follet. "It could have run this whole school. It was offered to Principal Radakovich. When asked, Dr. Schley said he was unaware of it and would look into it.

"They could have taken the thing and sold it," Ewert continued. "There have been other offers I have made."

According to Ewert, the system his company had offered was only four years old and cost, at the time, $200,000. Ewert questioned whether the offer had been passed on to the school board.

"We made the offer and we were turned down," said Ewert. "Did the board ever know this offer was made? Who makes these decisions? We have other computer systems to give away. Do you want the business community to help you?"

Pollution-contributors include ammonia, phosphorus, and silt, said Kabbes.

Skinner said he has become disenchanted with the agency bill.

What the agency is proposing is there be total, complete control of speed limits by them, and the current villages surrounding the water who now have the say-so, wouldn't be able to get a word in edge-wise.

"My village of Algonquin is not too happy with the waterway wanting to supersede the speed limits," explained I probably won't vote for the bill," said Skinner.

"Because of my disagreement, I probably won't vote for the bill," the representative added.

The bill also discusses raising the cap on user fees from $50 to $100, but the agency would still have to hold a public hearing before any real changes could take place.

Good news for agency employees is that they may be able to take part in government pension programs soon, said Kabbes, as well as giving it the authority to issue revenue bonds.

Larry Kamin, a teacher at the school and the vice president of the teachers union, told the board about some of the problems experienced by schools in Kenosha with Laidlaw. Kamin is a resident of Kenosha and has children riding Laidlaw buses.

"If you talk to the teachers in Kenosha, they will tell you that the buses are usually late," said Kamin. "Classes cannot start on time because the teachers have to wait for the buses.

"I am doing this as a parent," explained Kamin. "I count the three children at home and the 1,700 here as my children."

After everyone spoke their piece, the board went into executive session to discuss the issues. When they returned, ACHS Superintendent Robert Schley spoke to the group.

"It is a policy decision... You cannot lower the IMRF (pension fund) and social security without removing some employees," said Schley. "The board has to make a decision. It is a tough decision.

The board has only three choices. The only choices they have.

"The idea of reducing the support staff is not new. It was on the table before I got here," Schley continued. "It is not a knee jerk reaction to the referendum."

The board then voted on the Laidlaw contract. The only dissenting vote was board member Phil Delany who wanted to wait until the custodial contract was in place. In the end, the bus drivers at the school were out and Laidlaw was in.

The school will now sell their fleet of buses to Laidlaw. Bus drivers at the school will be offered positions with that company.

At the next school board meeting, a decision will be made regarding the custodial contract. There has been no word on the status of the security staff at this time.

Power takes first in tournament

On the weekend of April 16. the Lindenhurst Power (U-13) went on to the University of Wisconsin-Parkside and took first place in a round-robin U-13 tournament. The Power battled through three games on a day ruled by the wind and great defense.

Game one was a 0-0 tie with the Cedarburg Strikers with Kristina Giangiorgi making the big saves. Game two was also a 0-0 tie with the Racine Hurricanes, with Jenny Barbera providing the saves in goal. Game three put the Power in first place with a 1-0 win over the Buffalo Grove Cyclones, with both keepers sharing in the shut-out.

The Power goal was scored by Kristen Hungarland. The outstanding defense was turned in by Katie Anderson, Amber DeWald, Kristen Gamlin, Esther Scheurer and Jenny Porter.

Stars record first spring victory

On a windy day in Buffalo Grove, the Lindenhurst Stars (U-13) recorded their first victory of the young spring season by beating the Buffalo Grove Cyclones 4-1.

Minding the nets for the Stars was Megen Rinkenberger, who along with the dominant defense of Cheri Case, Ellie Elfering, Katie Gofron and Megs Kotlarz frustrated the Cyclones scoring attack. The scoring for the Stars was led by Mandy Fasano with two goals, adding one goal each was Samie Korbal and Amie Carlberg. The Stars are now 1-1-1.

Parker survives wind, Rams as Skyhawks fly past loop

One thing for certain Johnsburg softball fans can count on.

Katie Parker's pitching and Dawn Stewart's catching. Both are key ingredients why Johnsburg raised its record to 10-0 with a 7-0 win over Grayslake Tuesday.

"Dawn and I have worked on increasing my speed. I don't even think about how many strikeouts I have had until I see it in the paper," Parker said.

Parker fanned 10 Rams this windy day in Grayslake.

"Dawn used to be a pitcher and she is a very good catcher," Parker said.

Stewart was hitting at a .600 clip before the Rams game and helped that with a 2-for-3 day.

"Katie looked good. Her earned run average is 0.23 for the last 10 games. Her string of consecutive innings without a run is in the 60s," Johnsburg Coach Jim Meyers said.

Grayslake hosts Round Lake May 3. Johnsburg hosts Grant.

Grayslake had the honor of being the only team to score an earned run off Parker.

"Dawn is just an athlete, period," Meyers said.

The Rams (4-11 overall) did manage four hits. Meghan Jeffrey, Kathy Meek, Becky Ziolek and Amy Nelson collected singles.

"We were not aggressive. We were going through the motions," Grayslake Coach Paul Missavage said.

The Rams held Johnsburg scoreless through two, but 5 runs scored on 3 third inning miscues. Only one of the first 5 runs was earned.

Johnsburg added a pair the next inning.

Grayslake's defense settled down. Karen Leckman and Jeffrey combined on a right field to first base double play. Catcher Julie Davis tagged a runner out at home.

Grayslake had two runners reach base in the seventh after Missavage noted Mundelein's 7run comeback the day before. But Parker was just too tough, getting the next three outs.

Parker was coming off a pair of one-hit wins. The junior shutout Wauconda 6-0 and Marian Central.

Dawn Pelczynski led the Skyhawks with an RBI triple and Jamie Zoiss had 2 hits.

The Rams were having a successful week before the Johnsburg tilt.

Grayslake easily downed Grant 11-1. Ziolek had 2 RBIs, Jeffrey a double and 2 walks; Katie Kane a double and 2 RBIs and the win on the mound and Leckman a single.

A highlight in the 9-3 loss to Marian Central came from power and speed. Zioleck belted a home run and Duchane stole home.

Sequoits earn respect from NSC leader

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Although Antioch High dropped a twinbill to the Stevenson Patriots, Stevenson Coach Bob Mackey has a lot of respect for the Sequoits and pitcher Eric Eckenstahler.

"They've played a lot of good and close games. They're a competitive team," Mackey said of Antioch. "Their pitcher (Eckenstahler) is tough, and he's just recovering from mono."

Those were some pretty lofty compliments from a coach whose Patriots (17-3 overall and 6-0 in the NSC) could very well take the conference and whose trio of staring pitchers are 15-0 between them.

Stevenson pitcher Kevin Frederick (6-0) one-hit the Sequoits in the first Sequoit loss 4-0, and Rob Piggott (5-0) only gave up three hits and a run in the second game to give Stevenson the 12-1 win.

Antioch Coach Paul Petty noted that his players may have entered the doubleheader a little sluggish as 12 of his players participated in a 3-on-3 basketball tournament the night before during the high school's "Beach Bash '94."

"I wish we could have gone in (against Stevenson) full power," Petty said. "Our team is up and coming. We need every advantage we can get."

Eckenstahler kept the Sequoits within reach in the first game, but "offensively, we were non-existent," Petty said.

Not only were the Sequoits held to one third inning hit, but eight batters were called out on the third strike.

"Good pitchers find the black of the plate. That separates the good pitchers when they can hit the black of the plate," Petty said of Stevenson's ace pitcher Kevin Frederick.

By the second game Petty said he could see the effects of the activities from the night before wearing on his ball players. The game ended prematurely in the fifth inning because Antioch was losing by the 10-run rule.

"We just basically ran out of gas physically," Petty said. "I could see it my kids."

He continued, "In this conference, you have to come out to play every game. If you think otherwise, you'll get knocked down."

The two losses dropped Antioch's overall record to 5-12-1 and 1-5 in NSC play.

Petty said that the offense may have been a little dormant against the Pats, but he said he was encouraged by an improving defense which had turned around three double plays during last week's play.

The Sequoits lost a heartbreaker 3-2 to their long-time arch rival Warren Blue Devils Tuesday. They faced them again Thursday and will host Fenton for a doubleheader April 30.

Grant High to offer soccer as co-ed sport in '94-'95

Grant High will be joining the ranks of schools offering soccer next fall.

Athletic director Frank Cittadino said the Bulldogs will offer soccer as a co-ed junior varsity sport.

"There is community and student interest and we are the only Northwest Suburban Conference school not to offer soccer," Cittadino said.

He said a survey of studdents showed 65 interested in soccer. "I hope that means 20 to 30 kids will tryout," he said.

Gavin School has a soccer program and many Grant students have played in Lindenhurst or Round Lake area youth leagues.

No staff member has expressed an interest in coaching soccer. "We may have to go outside to hire a coach, but there are also a few vacancies yet to be filled," Cittadino said.

Marian Central added soccer, leaving Grant as the lone NWSC team. "We held out for a few years to see if there would be interest," Cittadino said.

Antioch's Kuceyeski named Libertyville football coach

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Who said dreams never come true? Randy Kuceyeski will be the first to tell you otherwise.

The Libertyville High School Board unanimously named Kuceyeski head coach of the Wildcats football team April 25.

An elated Kuceyeski said, "It was a dream come true for me. It's something an assistant coach always dreams of and it's a great opportunity to fulfill my dream."

Kuceyeski, who resides in Antioch, will begin a new era in Libertyville football, a program that was marked by somewhat of a bad dream and marred by scandal last year by the antics of former coach Dale Christensen.

As a motivational stunt, Christensen staged his own death in front of his players before the semi-final game against Loyola Academy. The Wildcats had won 12 straight games before the 27-14 loss to Loyola.

In the stunt, Christensen was gunned down while he was trying to break up an acted-out fight between students. The incident received national attention, and Christensen resigned from his coaching position after a community uproar. He still teaches driver's education at the high school.

Kuceyeski's main goal, however, will be "to carry on the tradition of excellence in our program that we have had for years," the former defensive coordinator

Kuceyeski has taught weight training and conditioning as well as junior and senior physical education classes at the high school for 16 years.

He is also founder of the Committed Athletes Excellence program, which consists of athletes against drug and alcohol abuse.

He said he hopes to instill the ideals of the ACE program into all his players by having them stay in contact with each other throughout the year and assuming more responsibility in watching each other.

"I would like to see high school athletes be role models all year round and on and off the field," Kuceyeski said.

Superintendent Dr. Donald Gossett said Kuceyeski's convictions to build role-model athletes was one of the determining factors that separated Kuceyeski from the three other applicants interviewed for the position.

"He attempts to build relationships. His sphere of influence goes beyond the football field," Gossett said. More than 60 people applied for the position.

Kuceyeski said his father instilled the importance of character building when he was growing up in Alliance, Ohio.

Kuceyeski and his twin brother, Ron, later received scholarships to play football at Northwestern University. Randy played nose tackle from 1972-76.

weekend both This Kuceyeskis will play in the alumni game against the varsity team at Northwestern. Randy's 18-yearold daughter, Erin, is also a football manager for the Big Ten team.

In the coming weeks, Kuceyeski will be meeting with his coaching staff to discuss filling two defensive coaching openings. He will also meet with his players to discuss his coaching philosophy.

"I want to have each player reach their maximum potential on and off the field," Kuceyeski emphasized again..

Having the opportunity to realize his dream of being head coach for a high school football team, Kuceyeski said he will have the opportunity to add some new (trick?) plays to the playbook. He wouldn't reveal any of his ideas, though.

"We'll be creative. Let me tell you that," quipped the new Libertyville football coach.

JV diamond girls nip Carmel, fall to Zion and Stevenson

The spring weather may have been favorable for the junior varsity Antioch softball team, but their record has fallen upon some stormy conditions.

The Lady Sequoits fell to Deerfield 14-0, Zion-Benton 19-16 and 18-13, and to Stevenson 14-3 and 6-1.

The Sequoits, however, did top Carmel 9-7.

Leading the Sequoit attack last week was Courtney Konrath with seven hits including a triple and two doubles. Jessica Schmitt added five hits including a double.

Katie Cox, Linda DeSalvo and Jaime Miles all chipped in with four singles each. Megan Sosnowski also had three hits.

Sarah Rockow added two hits, along with single safeties by Laura Deutsch, Kristin Franzen, Joann Jedele, Liz Koeck and Ellen Manderscheid.

Katie Cox and Sarah Rockow continued to lead the Sequoits in stolen bases.

Sequoit pitching took a marked step in the right direction as three pitchers posted personal bests for the season in either fewest hits or walks allowed in a single game.

Deutsch gave a single walk in seven innings against Carmel.

In the Stevenson doubleheader, Stephanie Haenchen allowed three walks in five innings, while Lisa Murphy allowed two walks and a hit in six innings.

The junior varsity softball team has 3-9-1 record with games coming up against Warren and Fenton this week.

Lindenhurst soccer opens season

The Lindenhurst boys' soccer teams have opened their spring season in the Northern Illinois Soccer League with a variety of results.

The Eagles (under 13) opened with a 2-2 tie against the Downers Grove Roadrunners last weekend, and then knocked off the St. Charles Strikers by a 3-1 score.

Juan Alvarez, John Scully and Alex Berger provided the scoring in the win, with strong support from Adam Foss and Carl Wheeler.

Justin Weeks and Vijay Kumar split the goalkeeping duties for Coach Ron Wetzel's Eagles.

The Lazers (under 14) have impressed coach Frank Marshall with their hard work in consecutive 2-1 victories over the Royal Midwest Cruz Azul and the Darien Dynamo.

The first game was won on goals by Brad Mark and Chris Porter, with an assist from Cameron Marshall.

The win over Darien saw outstanding defensive work by Josh Harpke and scores by Phil Fries and Chris Porter.

The Turbos (under 11), after being promoted this spring to a higher division, are playing hard but have fallen to some tough competition. Coaches Marchetti and Nigel Wheeler are confident that the Turbos will get on track after losses to Lyons Township and Glen Ellyn.

The Royal Eagles (under 10) followed a 3-0 loss against the Lisle Stingers with a 2-2 tie at home against the Darien Dynamo, Goals by Michael Persman and Adam Placko, with assists from Adam Jordan and Nate Rimkus, produced the tie.

Kaleb Barrett and Ramesh Kumar excelled on defense, while Tom Woodruff was strong at midfield.

The biggest early story for the Lindenhurst teams has been the Lightning (under 12).

After a 9-0 win over the Orland Park Bullets, the Lightning downed the Wheaton Falcons 8-0.

Eight different players scored including Kevin Earl, Quinn Gooch, Ryan Hlinak, Andy Lyon, Jon Mendelke, Matt Nolan, Keli Owens and Nick Placko.

Other standouts were Peter Gedvilas and Scott Bender on offense and Jay Sturt, Josh Boller, Kevin Nelson and Mark Sanderson on defense.

The Turbos, Lighting, Eagles and Lazers play their home games on Sundays at Polley Fields, while the Royal Eagles play theirs at Forest View Park in Lindenhurst.

Corsairs find luck comes to their side

Seven was indeed a lucky number for Carmel High's baseball team against Holy Cross.

Jeff Bunker, wearing No. 7, stroked a single to right field to score Adam Haravon with the winning run for a, you guessed it, 7-6 Carmel win. The run scored in the eighth-inning, though.

"I was trying to hit it to the outfield," Bunker, a senior, said.

Haravon started the inning off a Holy Cross reliever with a single. Pettis Kent and John Morris walked, loading the bases and bringing the outfield almost to the infield dirt.

Bunker is the Corsairs leading pitcher and has 5 of his team's 10 wins. Bunker may not have been expecting that role, but the senior has accepted it since Brian Buckingham's basketball injury sidelined the standout.

Bunker gave up 6 hits and fanned a pair.

"Joliet Catholic was tough and we have a lot of guys who have not pitched and they have never pitched before. We feel we will come around as soon as we get Buckingham back. We will have a good one-two punch on the moumd. It is there, but we are making mental mistakes," Bunker said.

The Corsairs overcame a 5-0 Holy Cross lead as the visitors took advantage of 4 Carmel errors.

"Bunker pitched well. He put the ball in play and we have to make plays behind him," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Carmel had lost 17-3 and 13-2 games to East Suburban Catholic Conference power Joliet Catholic and when Holy Cross scored those 5 runs and Henry Hernandez held Carmel to a walk in the first two innings, it looked like more of the same.

Even the heckling by track and field athlete Titus Mason did not phase the visitors.

Carmel got back into the game in its third.

A two-out rally included a single by Mike Rapplean and Bunker and doubles by Tony Longmire and Matt Head. That trimmed the lead to 5-4.

Holy Cross picked up a run in the fifth on two more CHS mis-

Carmel tied the game in the 7th.

Rapplean and Longmire walked, Head was hit by a pitch.

Bob Farina's single scored Rapplean and for a 6-6 tie. The tying run was sent home on a steal, but was tagged out.

Carmel, 10-11, 3-4 had its shaky moments defensively, but pitched a good time for its lone double play. Rapplean tagged a runner going from first to second and threw the batter out at first to end the eighth inning.

Carmel hosts Marist in an 11 a.m. doubleheader April 30.

Pendleton hat trick paces Carmel to title

Ken Pendleton warmed up for a key East Suburban Catholic Conference dual with Marist by winning three events at the Lake Forest invitational.

Pendleton, a senior, won the 100, 200 and 400 meters as Carmel outdistanced Antioch 109-97.

"We went into the meet thinking we would finish in the top three. This is a bonus," Carmel Coach Jim Halford said.

Pendleton won the 400 in 53.2. Teammate Titus Mason was third at 52.4. Pendleton won the 100 in 10.9, just edging Bruce Bennett of Barrington.

Pendleton won the 200 in 22.0. The 200 and 400 represented personal bests.

This was the second time in a week Carmel had downed Antioch. Carmel won its first dual ond to a nice lead." meet with a 75-71 win.

Carmel won the Lake Forest meet due to its strength in the field events as well.

Matt Ehrhardt won the shot put in 52-2.

Charles Burgoon of Carmel was second in the discus at 147-3 with Ehrhardt third at 146-10.

"I was disappointed in the field events. We only got one point and we were anticipating about 10 or 12," Antioch Coach Norm Hahn said.

Matt Fasana won the 300 meters with 40.8 and led off three relays. "He had a great day," Hahn said.

Aaron Bell tied his meet record in the high jump at 6 feet, 9 inches: "He just missed 6-11 and ran a great leg in the relay," Hahn said. "He took us from sec-

The Antioch 3,200 meter relay team of Larry Schmidt, Mark Mazur, Kevin Erickson and Jeremy Gabacz beat Lake Forest with a time of 8:46.6.

Kevin Fasana took third in the triple jump for Antioch.

Brian Narajowski and Mike Mordini were fourth and fifth in the triple jump for Carmel. Narajowski earned fourth in the high jump.

Andrew Bolton of Antioch finished behind two Lake Forest pole vaulters at 11-0.

Rams netters dominate NWS foes

Grayslake's boys tennis team continued its roll through Northwest Suburban Conference

Grant fell victim to the Rams express, 4-1 on the Grayslake courts Monday. The win gives the Rams a 7-3 overall mark, 6-0 in the league and helped them bounce back from non-conference losses to Carmel and Zion-Benton.

"It was an excellent team effort," Coach Paul Keller said of the Grant match.

The Rams have already exceeded his expectations.

"With only one doubles team back, I thought it would be difficult to defend our conference title. We got some help we did not expect, like transfer Pete Neuberger from Virginia and foreign exchange student and doubles player Christian Favre," Keller

No. 1 singles player Carey Radebaugh is 6-0 in conference after a 6-1, 6-4 win over Joe Russo.

Grant switched its lineup to gain its only win of the match. Toby Merrill, normally a doubles player, beat Eric Gardiner 6-3, 2-6, 6-2.

Neuberger beat Josh Smith 6-

Grayslake, pushed to 3-2 win over Grant in Fox Lake, swept the doubles.

Paul Roeck abd Favre downed Zach Spraetz and Greg Jarr 6-3, 6-4. The frosh duo of Chris Wirsing and Josh Shipley downed Mike Lanners and Jason Jurgatis 6-4, 6-2.

"It has been an up-and-down season for us. We have had one spot play nicely, but not been able to pull it all together," Grant Coach Frank Cittadino said.

Grant hosts Round Lake May 2 and Mundelein May 3.

Grayslake hosts Johnsburg May 2.

Teacher rejects ACHS apology

Staff Reporter

Round Lake teacher, Tim Kirby, rejected the apology from Antioch Community High School Superintendent Robert Schley last week at the ACHS board of education meeting last week. Kirby's rejection was quite pub-

"I said I would not accept that apology," Kirby told the audience, "and, I will never accept the apology."

Kirby was referring to the apology made by Schley after the superintendent made some remarks regarding both North Chicago and Round Lake High School.

In "Headlines," a newsletter put out by the school to the community, Schley, on the front page, discussed the effects of the failure of the education fund referendum.

"The bottom line of the referendum failure is that the students at ACHS will be receiving a second rate education," said Schley in the newsletter. "... Failure to do so will result in a high school that will be on a level with Round Lake and North Chicago, or worse!"

Schley had sent letters of apology to area newspapers, to both Round Lake and North Chicago, and apologized again at the school board meeting.

"What I was trying to say is that financially we are all in the same boat," explained Schley. "I hope my apology is accepted."

At which point, Kirby announced, "We don't accept it."

Lake Villa Township Baseball officials and Lake Villa Village Board members met to work on formulating a plan they can present to the Lake County Forest Preserve for baseball fields at Sun Lake Forest Preserve.

The league has been trying since last summer to get permission from the preserve to have a site. In the village agreement with the preserve, it called for playing fields.

The preserve has been hesitant about dealing with the league. The preserve in a meeting with Lake Villa, decided to deal with the village directly.

"We are trying to get everything in a proposal format," said Len Kocinski, vice president. "We need to put all of the things together."

Kocinski said some of the questions include what the final site is, understanding and meeting the requirements of the forest preserve.

The key for the committee is forming the proposal to provide it with a direction. Once the pro-

Tax cap to be challenged in the courts

Staff Reporter

As the tax cap enters its third year in Illinois, the Fair Tax Policy Committee, along with a number of other plaintiffs are seeking to have the tax cap declared unconstitutional. The defendants in the suit include Governor Jim Edgar, Doug Whitley, former director of the Illinois Department of Revenue, Thomas Hynes, assessor for Cook County, and the county clerks and treasurers of Cook and the collar counties.

While residents of Lake County are fairly familiar with the tax cap, other taxing bodies throughout the state are not subject to the same formulas. The collar counties which surround Cook County and include Lake, are subject to a maximum of either 5 percent or the Consumer Price Index (CPI), whichever is lower. The tax rate is applied to the current equalized assessed valuation (EAV).

Cook County has no tax cap limitation, although the tax rate is based on the prior year's EAV. All other counties in the state of Illinois use both the current EAV and have no tax cap limitation. The tax cap was instituted to combat the expected sky-rocketing of taxes as the land values surrounding Chicago began to

While many school districts are very publicly struggling with the limitations on the amounts they can levy, the tax cap affects all taxing bodies. This includes park districts, library districts, villages, townships, and even fire

"We are foregoing $1/4 million of our wealth this year," said retiring superintendent of Antioch's District 34, Donald Skidmore. "Even though we don't have access to the increasing EAV, the state aid formula treats it as if we do."

There is a "savings clause" in the tax cap act which is supposed to protect schools from decreasing amounts of state aid. However, the result is still a reduction of state aid at a time when the schools are limited by the tax can.

"School districts in collar counties had smaller tax bases to start with," explained Richard Huszagh, one of the attorneys representing the plaintiffs in the lawsuit. "Now, all of a sudden the areas are expanding rapidly.... The problem is that the tax cap formula robs all but the richest school districts."

"I think that the tax cap is the homeowner's salvation," said Marvin Raymond of IRATE, a Libertyville-based taxpayer's watchdog group. "There has been talk to extend the tax cap to those areas in Cook County, outside of Chicago."

The steering committee of the Fair Tax Policy group feels differently about the issue. The group has been approaching school boards in Lake County seeking contributions to the litigation.

The suit, which is not a class action law suit, maintains that the tax cap violates Art. IX Section 4 (Uniformity Clause), Art. IV Section 2 and 13 (Due Process and Equal Protection Clause and Special Legislative Clause) of the See TAX CAP page B8

THIS WEEK Final link to county river trail on hold

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Lake County Forest Preserve District officials and the Friends of Ryerson Woods locked heads over the route of the Des Plaines River trail that would cut through Ryerson Woods.

Michael Fenelon, Director of Forest Preserve's Development, Restoration and Planning Committee, outlined the district's proposal to extend the Des Plaines River trail through Ryerson Woods.

Members from the Friends of Ryerson, on the other hand, presented an alternative "greenway" along the west side of the river across from Ryerson Woods.

According to Fenelon, the Forest Preserve's plans would connect the Des Plaines River trail system from the Wisconsin border to Cook County. This area of the trail would also provide ample space for bike and horse riders.

"This is the last section which we have not been able to get an agreement on, Fenelon said of the final link of the county-long

The Friends of Ryerson argue that bikes and horses through Ryerson could harm existing ecosystems.

Thomas Donnelley, Chairman of the Friends Board, said, "It would be wrong to slam a major construction project for a wide multi-use trail right through the heart of one of our state's major natural resources-especially when another alternative

George Ranney Jr., Vice Chairman of Friends, listed reasons why a trail west of the woods would be a better alternative.

· A greenway is needed to protect the edges of both sides of the

• The plan would allow public access to the west side of the river

· Landowners on the west side of the river would be encouraged to hand over some of their land because much of it is designated as wetlands and would be subject to government regulations.

· The western alternative could be less expensive than constructing two bridges across the river to connect the Forest Preserve trail.

Ranney later said that the Friends of Ryerson support a trail along the river, but they want a trail that best preserves the sensitive character of Ryerson Woods.

"Our only point is to avoid Ryerson Woods," said Ranney, adding that horses and mountain bikes could destroy the wetlands as well as the habitats of endangered animals that use the area for nesting purposes.

Fenelon contended that landowners along the west bank have not conceded to giving up their property, while Ranney said the landowners have been supportive of Ryerson and negotiations with property owners are pending.

Fenelon went on to say that the new trail would run through current farm fields, an apple orchard and existing trails.

"The area we're going through is a nice area, but we're following existing trails," said Fenelon. "We are away from the most environmentally sensitive areas."

In addition, the question over securing property from landowners was referred to a Forest Preserve land acquisition committee.

Central train leaves fiery path Wisconsin

ALEC JUNGE and MARY FOLEY Staff Reporters

It was the combination of a frozen train wheel, strong winds, a lack of rain, and a shower of sparks that caused hundreds of little fires along the Wisconsin Central Railroad tracks Saturday. A freight train traveling southbound was responsible for all the damage.

According to area police and fire departments, the fires ranged from Kenosha, Wis. to Fairfield Road, in Lake Villa. The strong winds and sparks from a railroad car caused a chain fire which kept firefighters tied up trying to contain the flames.

"We had to shut down the railroad until the fires were out. We had to put units down the tracks," said Antioch's Deputy Chief Dennis Volling. "The fires were in a number of locations. The problem wasn't noticed until the train was down to Lake Villa."

Approximately 100 acres in the fire district were destroyed by fire. Despite the wide area of destruction, firefighters were able to keep property damage to a minimum, with only six scrap cars at Herb's Auto destroyed by

"It was caused by a hot wheel on the track," said Lt. Brock Millsop of Lake Villa Fire Department. "The wheel drags on the track and they go flat causing sparks to fly out on the grass."

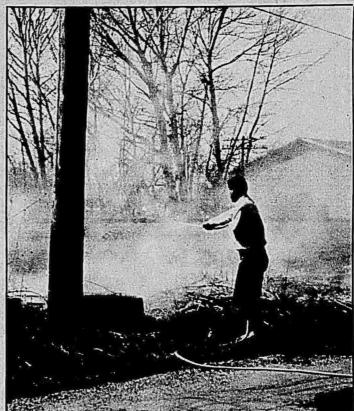

Millsop said with a strong westerly wind the numerous small fires spread from Grass Lake Road all the way to the Bridge on Route 83. He said the department battled the blazes from about 2:30 to 8 p.m. He said there were so many fires the dispatchers couldn't keep up with the phone calls.

The six cars ignited quickly because gas was in them. "At Herb's Auto six cars used for scrap were consumed by fire," Millsop said.

Other then the cars, most property was spared from the flames. "We saved all the property areas. Only the marshes and grasslands burned," Millsop said.

The Antioch and Lake Villa Fire Departments were joined with 26 units, 10 agencies, and over 200 firefighters to battle the blazes. Also, the fire chief of Round Lake assisted at command. The fires took roughly four hours to be put out.

Other fire departments who assisted in fighting the fires north of Grass Lake Road included, Fox Lake, Round Lake, Spring Grove, Newport, Gurnee and Grayslake.

AT A GLANCE

Wetlands will not stop school

WAUCONDA— Although no agreement has been made concerning what to do with the wetlands on the Island Lake school site, board members of Wauconda Unit District 118 are not concerned, whatever the outcome. Earlier conversations between Dist. 118, Legat Architects and the McHenry County Conservation District had the wetland area being totality mitigated onto nearby conservation property. Those plans seem to have fallen through, and Wayne F. Machnich of Legat said he was planning to speak with them and see what they want. Current plans call for the use of the wetlands as proposed ballfields, but only if they can be mitigated. If a suitable, cost-effective plan cannot be achieved, Dist. 118 Superintendent Dr. H. Darrell Dick said they could enter into an intergovernmental agreement with Island Lake for use of Water Tower Park and its play fields adjacent to the school.

Cencom changes structure

ROUND LAKE —Cencom, the 911 service for Round Lake, is changing the structure of its board. Cencom has received criticism from the communities which use the service for the increased costs. The Joint Emergency Telephone Board comprised of area mayors agreed to not allow one community to have all the slots on the boards. Round Lake Park Mayor Charlene Beyer said she feels the boards should have representation from all the five area villages.

Village still watching airport

ROUND LAKE PARK—Mayor Charlene Beyer said the village board likely will assist Campbell Airport owner Paul Kane with infrastructure improvements around the airport. Beyer said she is willing to see what Kane is proposing for improvements when he presents plans to the village. The board didn't approve taking control of the airport last week because the village didn't want to go through condemnation proceedings because Kane said he is unwilling to sell the airport.

Business manager resigns

wauconda Unit Dist. 118 board members have had a lot on their agenda this year, from working on the Island Lake school to hiring a new superintendent. They are now faced with looking for a new business manager, as they were dealt a surprise blow from Kathleen L. Carpenter, who announced she was resigning after helping the district grow the past eight years. The board regretfully accepted her resignation at its April 21 meeting, amid gasps heard from audience members. Carpenter will formally leave June 30 to take a similar position with newly formed North Shore District 112, currently in its first year after consolidating three Highland Park elementary school districts.

Long Lake lot to be paved

LONG LAKE—Although there were some contract troubles with the firm hired to do the paving on the commuter parking lot, Metra's Long Lake station is soon to be paved. Chris Knapton of Metra said the lot has been closed off to commuters for the last two weeks, with intentions to pave the parking area. Because the Fox Lake area contractor who is new to Metra didn't get all the required permits, the job was brought to a halt. Around 80 commuters each weekday use the station in Long Lake.

Board honors citizen

MUNDELEIN—Fr. William Harry, president of Carmel High School, was honored as an "Outstanding Citizen of the Village of Mundelein" at this week's board meeting. "Father Bill", who serves as chaplain for the Mundelein Fire Department, was tricked into attending the meeting by Fire Chief Randy Justus.

Firefighter victim of mob action

FOX LAKE—Police reported that on April 16 just after midnight they were contacted about suspicious circumstances at Hawthorne and Ardmore in Round Lake Beach. Police were flagged down by Richard Hoehne, 22, of Ingleside, a Fox Lake Fireman. Hoehne related he had been the victim of a battery at Round Lake Drive. All in all, three men were victimized and three men were arrested and charged with felony mob action.

Officials disagree with cable

the Lake Zurich system will soon be able to receive adult only films on a pay-per view basis as part of a Spice and Action channel starting in June. While the adult films are currently not available to any Jones customers, the action, or B-movie type genre films, are in the Elgin system and the one in Libertyville, which also services Grayslake, Vernon Hills and Mundelein. While one area village official said the films were of a porno-

graphic nature, Jones Intercable General Manager
Michael Lovett said that is not an appropriate definition. A letter informing Kildeer officials of the impending channel brought about a lengthy discussion concerning the First Amendment, an idea of prohibiting any residents from receiving it at all and why it was even being discussed.

CLC honors instructor

GRAYSLAKE—The College of Lake County has announced the recipient of their 1994 Faculty of the Year Award. Cheena Wade, an environmental biology instructor at the college, was chosen from a field of more than 30 faculty members. The Grayslake resident was chosen for her teaching effectiveness inside and outside the classroom, professional leadership, and outstanding community service.

Break in fire investigation

ANTIOCH—What fire department officials are describing as a "device", may provide the answers to the Loon Lake Landing fire last November. At this time, the investigation of the fire in Antioch Township is still ongoing. The fire, which was discovered at about 6 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 30, 1993, completely destroyed the restaurant. The device will be reviewed by the investigators at the lab.

Senior homes project wins nod

GURNEE—Plans for a 60-unit senior citizen housing complex are proceeding forward in Gurnee. Assisi Homes of Gurnee's building at Route 132 and Belle Plaine received a approval from Gurnee Village trustees. Assisi Homes won a planned unit development and a conditional use permit.

Senior controversy continues

ANTIOCH—Judge Steven Walters will be reviewing the denial, by the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals, to grant a variance to the Antioch Country Inn on April 29. A variance was needed to build an assisted-living residence for senior citizens on Grass Lake Road because of the unavailability of sewers and water. The Antioch Country Inn project will include private rooms, 17 acres of wooded grounds and gardens in a "bed and breakfast" style of living. It is projected to cost residents 40-60 percent below fees of traditional nursing homes.

LMV honors secretary

MUNDELEIN—Joann Hallan, secretary to Chief Ray Rose of the Mundelein Police Department, was named "Secretary of the Year" by the Libertyville-Mundelein-Vernon Hills Chamber of Commerce. Hallan went to work for the Department as a dispatcher in 1959 and has seen it grow with the community. Hallan, said Rose, "truly has made a difference."

"Substance abuse continues to be a major problem facing society. And, it is related to major social ills like street crime and violence," points out Jim Buchholz, LCSW, program director of the Recovery Program at St. Therese Medical Center.

"The economic costs are staggering. A study released last year estimated that the cost of alcohol and drug abuse in 1990 was $166 billion," he adds.

"Therefore it is important to continue to educate the public about substance abuse and how to recognize it. Right now national statistics indicate that heroin use is on the increase, so public education about heroin must also increase," notes Buchholz.

Blue Cross applauds call for reform; details sought

A good salesperson tries to create the perception that the customer truly needs what's being sold. Remember that the next time you hear someone say there's a health care crisis in America.

Making us believe there's a crisis is an essential feature of the current sales pitch for the Clinton Administration's health care plan. Create a crisis and almost any "solution" can be sold, even one that relies on massive government involvement in a new untested health care system.

The president insists that there is a health care crisis, although Senate Finance Committee Chairman Daniel Patrick Moynihan (D-N.Y.) and other leading lawmakers of both parties say there is no crisis. The president cites examples of how the system has failed some people. But anecdotes, no matter how true or heart wrenching, do not constitute a crisis.

To proclaim a health care crisis in this country, is to deny that 85 percent of all Americans have health insurance and that most Americans think the health care they receive is excellent. On the other hand, no one should deny that there are serious flaws in the health care system.

Millions of Americans do not have access to health insurance because of pre-existing conditions, premiums for some people are no longer affordable due to illness or because their employers do not offer health coverage. Others have fears that their families will be without insurance if they attempt to change jobs or become unemployed. These are real and serious problems, but they can be attacked without inventing a new system that would be light on financing and heavy on government involvement.

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Illinois is in agreement that reforms in the insurance market would be a prudent first step and would eliminate the vast majority of insurance problems that people encounter. Congress should eliminate pre-existing condition restrictions and create standard benefit packages that would allow consumers to more easily compare insurers on the basis of price and purchasing cooperatives for small employers with less than 50 workers.

Malpractice reform, a universal claim form, electronic data exchange, subsidies to help the working poor and low wage employers afford coverage can solve other specific problems,

This is not tinkering around the edges of the health care system, as some have charged. This is fundamental change that builds on what works in the current system. There is no need to create a crisis mentality to reach agreement on solutions. More leadership and less salesmanship will do just fine.

WalkAmerica fighting infant mortality

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The weather could not have been any better for a walk on Sunday, April 24. The sun was shining, the temperature was in the upper 70s and there was a light breeze.

But what made this particular walk special in Libertyville's Adler Park was its cause: More than 600 people from across Lake County gathered for the 1994 March of Dimes Lake County, WalkAmerica.

Walkers, and even some roller bladers, took to the 12-mile course through Adler Park and meandered through downtown Libertyville to help raise money for the March of Dimes and the fight against birth defects and infant mortality.

Craig Fowler, the ambassador for the March of Dimes, greeted the troops who were walking to benefit Fowler and hundreds of other children with birth defects.

"Good luck and thanks for caring," said Fowler.

Libertyville Mayor Jo Ann Eckmann was also on hand to wish them well before they lined up behind the VFW color guard to begin the trek.

"It's really a community effort and it's for such a good cause," said Eckmann, whose village was sponsoring the walk for the first time. "It's typical of our community to come out together for a worthy cause."

Candace Greene, special events coordinator for the Lake County March of Dimes, said more than 15,000 people across the state in 40 different walks were expected to participate in the event this year.

She said she hopes to raise approximately $60,000 in the Libertyville WalkAmerica. Corporate donations more than tripled this year, she said.

"The support we've gotten has been great," Greene said. Corporations donated more than $5,000 for the cause this year.

The money is earmerled for

The money is earmarked for research and development, education in schools and hospitals, community service and advocacy.

Greene also noted that the money helps train people to work in high risk areas to educate mothers on pre-natal care and to train volunteers to work in corporations to instruct working mothers on pre-natal care as well.

"This kind of fund-raising allows us to train people to fight baby defects," she said.

Although First of America Bank in Libertyville sponsored the home site, approximately 20 other businesses also pitched-in donations. Libertyville Lincoln Mercury, the Sunrise Rotary Club, Northern Trust Bank and Dr. Lee Tisa each sponsored one of the four checkpoints.

Gini Craig, sales and marketing manager of First of America and chairman of the Lake County WalkAmerica Committee, said more than 80 employees from each of its 16 branch offices in Lake County had their walking shoes on for the event.

"It allowed us to put our mouth where our money is," Craig said. "We always contribute money to the cause, but this year we are actively participating in the event."

Three local VFW posts were also on hand to lead the troops in the first strides of WalkAmerica.

"It's our job to support community activities, and that's why we're out here—to help veterans and children," said Richard Coombe, Commander of the Winthrop Harbor VFW Post 7448.

Coombe said the Winthrop Harbor Post was the original post to sponsor the event three years ago. VFW posts 7981 of North Chicago and 8741 of Libertyville also led the walkers with the color guard.

Dan Brimeyer, junior Vice Commander of Post 7448, said the veterans regularly assist in community causes to demonstrate that they are more than canteens and a pool hall for war veterans.

"This is something we believe in strongly. We all have children," Brimeyer said. "It's a continuance of service that we learned in the military."

Participants eventually returned to Adler Park, where they were served a light lunch, collected their raffle prizes and were treated to entertainment.

Sunday was truly a great day for a walk, and all in the name to help fight birth defects and infant mortality.

Picking new chief difficult operation

Village trustees are changing the ways police chiefs are hired that raises some interesting questions.

Reporter Mary Foley discovered in a Lakeland Newspapers survey a definite trend toward hiring new chiefs from outside the community as opposed to the traditional "up from the ranks" method.

In going outside, officials typically offer the reason that they are seeking to inject a "fresh perspective" in local law enforcement or provide "more professional" leadership. If this is the case, then the village fathers haven't exactly been satisfied with the brand of policing they've been getting.

Foley found that of 21 Lake County municipalities surveyed, 12 current police chiefs were hired from outside the community. Of the nine current chiefs who rose through the ranks, two (Gurnee and Round Lake Beach) are classified as acting chiefs while permanent leaders are sought and two chiefs (Vernon Hills and Park City) won appointments after leaving to serve elsewhere.

Going outside the department to hire a new chief can be time consuming and expensive, especially if one of the new professional search firms is used. Council members supporting search firms feel the expense of $12,000 to $15,000 for a new hire is small considering the elimination of local politics and the benefits an unbiased, impartial third party provides.

On the opposite side, shunning "up from the ranks" selection can lead to department morale problems and dampening the incentive of hard work and dedication paying off with promotion to chief.

The method of selecting a new police chief is a strong indicator of the type of law enforcement local officialdom desires. One thing is certain. With law enforcement being one of the most vital and costly services provided by a municipality, there's no margin for error. Getting the right person in the police chief's chair is one of the toughest jobs ever handled by local officials.

Boot camp justice aids lawless youth

The idea of a boot camp to deal with juvenile criminals in Lake County deserves more than a casual glance.

A boot camp is a residential alternative for youthful lawbreakers, the frequently violent criminals with inadequate educations and little or no work skills, the ones who are most likely to commit crimes.

Officers of the court, political leaders and the public have been considering improvements in the Lake County juvenile justice system. A local boot camp should be high on the list of considerations.

Florida, a high crime state, is in the process of funding more than a dozen new boot camps. Prison officials in Florida offer statistics that less than a third of the boot camp graduates receive now prison terms. These figures have been challenged, but they still are encouraging in a day and age when juvenile crime continues to worsen.

At a boot camp, teenage offenders are exposed to a military environment and discipline. They have an opportunity to acquire some social skills and begin training for job placement.

A youngster being chastised by a camp version of a Marine drill sergeant is much preferred to a teenager being sentenced to a future behind bars. Law abiding citizens would welcome a Lake County boot camp.

Mega plant costs no longer affordable

Urban planners and pro-development politicians are biting their lips that Motorola Inc. leap-frogged over Lake County and Schaumburg to locate a new $100 million cellular telephone plant in rural Harvard, more noted for milk production than advantages as a manufacturing center.

The reason was interesting and enough to send shivers down the backs of leaders advocating more growth and development for this locality. Motorola bosses see the Harvard site as an attractive alternative to current "close in" facilities that have been engulfed by urban sprawl. As Motorola executive Robert N. Weisshappel put it: "We don't want to be fenced in."

The Harvard plant, providing employment for approximately 3,000, will be a sister facility to the center producing cellular phones on Rte. 45 adjacent to Libertyville, Grayslake and Mundelein, which already is outgrown by the global demand for Motorola's product.

Motorola's opting for a far-out McHenry County site might also be a signal that builders of mega-plants no longer are in a position in the suburbs to extract state and local government concessions deemed necessary to construct new plants. The state went all out with incentives to make sure the giant industry remained in Illinois, but local school districts and other public bodies also will be doing their share. Perhaps slowly, but both officialdom and local taxpayers are learning that the giveaways to lure big job centers no longer are affordable in most suburban communities.

I am very disturbed at the way the W.W. Grainger rezoning matter has gone and is going. It should have been killed long ago but hangs on as though it is "a done deal" with the county authorities going through the motions so the citizens will think it is being carefully judged for a fair outcome. I have very strong doubts about that or the fairness of the decision when disclosed.

I can't imagine D.W. Grainger (chairman and president) or James M. Baisley (vice president, general counsel and secretary) reacting any differently than the residents of Mettawa have if I bought up acreage adjacent to their homes and proceeded to get the zoning changed so I could build their sized building to house 1,200 or so employees whose commuter cars will run into and out of the neighborhood every working day to an already loaded highway.

Mettawa has always been residential, doesn't even have a neighborhood grocery. All that was known before Grainger purchased the land. They See LETTERS page B7

-Viewpoint Gang response—family, togetherness

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

A mom with two children in their formative years recounted the struggle to "keep them on the right track" with gang activity exploding on all sides. Call her experience "Motherhood in the 90's."

"Most people have no idea what's going on (gangs): Pressure on the kids is tremendous. Gang leaders are recruiting from all walks of life. Even kids from good families are getting involved.

"It's insane. This whole thing is like a nightmare," the earnest young mother said, shaking her head.

The woman's story was more than a little unsettling. The family doesn't reside in an inner city project high rise. They're white and they live in a Lakeland suburb.

What was intriguing was one of the solutions sounded by the worried parent to society's dilemma combating gang influence.

"Kids are all alike. They like excitement, doing things that are different and fun, especially on the spur of the moment. I'm afraid," the mom continued seriously, "that in our families today, where parents are working and involved in lots of things there just isn't enough time for plain old fun together, just going off and doing something different."

So the mom posed a question. "Why don't parents fill the void in their children's lives of doing fun and exciting things together? There's no spontaneity in our lives anymore," she opined.

Her ideas of fun and excitement ran along the lines of going to a funny movie, packing up for a weekend of camping or visiting the zoo rather than stealing hubcaps, sticking up a convenience store or sleeping overnight with a girl friend.

"Parents need to be parents again, not counseling their kids on their inner feelings or getting them signed up for team sports. Love them, comfort them, BE with them," the mom advised.

And, above all, parents shouldn't be afraid to give the kids a whack if some punishment and discipline are warranted, the mom emphasized. Don't leave it to the gang leaders to teach respect and discipline.

Well said, mom. Simple, straight forward. Common sense.

The mom's plain talk dovetailed nicely with a favorite theory on dealing with youthful lawbreaking and violence. Return paddling in the grade schools so youngsters can be taught discipline and respect.

Parental love and attention might not solve all the problems of society, but it might head off the need for bigger and better detention centers, more jails and all the billions spent to patch over a society that seems to be tearing apart.

-Party Lines-

Seek Demo volunteers to fill ballot spots

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

This is the time of year Lake County Democrats go looking for volunteers to fill empty spots on their November ticket.

County Chairman Terry Link is well aware of a May 14 deadline for filling uncontested vacancies through slating processes provided by the statutes. The Democratic Central Committee has authority for state offices; input from precinct committee captains kicks off the process for filling County Board vacancies.

"We've got some quality candidates in mind. We're also interested in talking to volunteers," related Link, who still is on an emotional high from a Springfield rally featuring Tipper Gore and a successful fund raiser for Kathy Ryg, Democratic candidate for county clerk.

Of the Ryg shindig in Libertyville, Link noted, "Seventy-five percent of the people attending were brand new Democrats.

That's something." Link wants to correct a misconception that the Lake County Democratic leadership is dominated by Shore Line residents. "Three of our seven officers are from west County," Link. exclaimed Karen Rydberg of Lake Villa is a vice Terry Link president. Other "outlanders" include Robert Boness, Round Lake Beach, and David Stollman, Buffalo Grove. . . .

Ah, youth!— For the second consecutive election, Democrats dipped into the ranks of unknown to slate a candidate to run in November against incumbent Congressman John Porter in the 10th Dist.

Getting the nod is Andrew Krupp, 25, of Arlington Heights, who holds the title of vice president in a family manufacturing business. Two years ago Porter bowled over Democrat Michael Kennedy, a young North Shore attorney.

Cap or tar-Independent Republicans are ready to spit nails after their new party chairman, Dr. John Schullen, greased the way for Shawn Depke to return as Warren Township GOP chairman even though he was defeated for precinct committeeman in the March primary.

In case Schulien hasn't heard, the discontent is scattered throughout the county despite descriptions of party unity at a big county-wide rally last week at Lincolnshire.

Embarrassed over the bald-faced power play, independent Republicans who first told Party Lines that they're getting a tar brush ready for the chairman have tempered their anger to the point of ordering a dunce cap for Schulien.

Tom 'watch'-

Old-line Republi- Tom Lachner cans in Lake Forest who supported hardworking Mary Beattle, unsuccessful bidder for nomination as state representative, are advising a second look at the winner, Tom Lachner of Lake Bluff, who campaigned as a businessman and activist for new school funding initiatives.

The Beattle backers are saying that Lachner, 37, is too close to deep-pocketed trial lawyers for comfort. One certainty is that mention of the freewheeling trial lawyers won't come up in the general election. Democratic candidates have a long-standing friendship with the legal professionals whose greatest fear in is reform.

Sweeping float-Officials from the Village of Vernon Hills are invited to participate in Wheeling's centennial parade June 26. Officials, however, find themselves somewhat in a quandary: After some discussion, they didn't know what kind of vehicle to use in the parade. One official suggested riding in the new street sweeper the village is hoping to purchase. As a centennial gift to Wheeling, maybe they can ride last in the parade and sweep up the parade debris.

'Graingergate'-After it was learned that W.W. Grainger had a hand in rewriting the county's Framework Plan (which is currently in draft form and needs to be approved by the Lake County Board), residents living near the proposed site became miffed. They question why county officials were influenced to incorporate new, word-for-word writing into the Plan from Grainger officials who bypassed the public hearing process by submitting their proposal via a letter only days before the Regional Planning Committee approved the updated draft. Lincolnshire, Mettawa and Lake Forest have had a binding agreement to keep the land zoned residential for estates, an intergovernmental agreement shunned by the courts and the county. Are Grainger officials exerting their power in the county political system by working secretly within? This subversion and influence of power smells of Watergate.

obviously set out to cause heartache and change by the force of law, not because they want to be good neighbors as the flags are waved and the bribes float.

Their zoning change should not be granted. If Governor Stevenson lived there today it would have been a dead issue long

I have done business with Grainger off and on since 1947 and they are a fine company and would be an asset to Lake County. I'm certain that they could be welcomed to any number of locations along I-94 such as either the northeast or southwest corners of Rte. 176 and the Interstate. They could be a showpiece opposite Lambs Farms. The slowing traffic would make their landmark sign stand out. Rte. 137 and I-94 is another possibility already outstanding because of Abbott Park. I' m sure there are numerous others to the north.

Before retirement, I traveled Edens Highway daily and always appreciated Grainger's property in Skokie. It is neat in appearance and always well trimmed. Their sign is prominent but blends in nicely with the property as a whole. I'm sure they want to show off their good taste in advertising to the greater volume of traffic which I-94 offers and don't blame them, but not in residential Mettawa.

Prayer Day healing needed to save U.S.

Editor.

There can be no doubt-America, as a nation is suffering, and our future is uncertain. The moral decay is apparent to the rest of the world, especially Eastern Block countries that have learned from bitter experience they cannot exist without moral principals and dependence upon God.

Historical records prove that our founders believed in God and in the power of prayer. Our nation was founded on a biblical base; our freedom was won at great cost. Five of our founding fathers were captured and executed by the British for treason, nine of them died on the battlefields, and another dozen lost everything they had. These men freely gave their lives, fortunes and, in some cases, their families in order that we might live with the precious freedoms we have allowed to be stripped away.

We are surrounded by reminders of religion's positive influence on our nation, from the national anthem to monuments to currency. In 1951, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas affirmed that "we are a religious people and our institutions presuppose a Supreme being." However, on June 25, 1962, the Supreme Court shockingly deviated from the including of God in the affairs of this nation and removed prayer from public schools. Never before in the history of our country had a branch of government taken such a stand; it set the stage for humanisms's creep into our courts and laws.

Bible reading in schools was removed in 1963, and the posting of the Ten Commandments in schools was outlawed in 1980. The very guidebook upon which our country was established was deemed worthless. Perhaps a reflection of government's contempt for religion, school officials last week in St. Louis suspended a young schoolboy from public school because he had prayed before eating his lunch in the school's cafeteria. As waves of rampant violence, confusion and immorality crash around us, it remains obvious that we are a nation without a rudder.

Exempt from zealous government officials, fortunately is one freedom protected by law: the Annual National Day of Prayer. Originally declared by the Continental Congress in 1775, it has been signed into law by Presidents Truman and Reagan. May 5 marks the 43rd consecutive observance. Only through prayer and repentance can our nation be restored to the land envisioned by our forefathers. The National Day of Prayer is similar to Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July. It's a national day-and a privilege. Most everyone should agree that this year's theme, "Heal Our Land," is more appropriate than ever.

Prayer is part of our national heritage. Would you consider joining millions of humble Americans on their knees and intercede for our nation? It may be our only hope.

Board doesn't learn

Editor:

It appears we are soon going to learn again how poorly our Lake County Board represents the strong wishes of its constituents.

In 1983 after the residents of Lake Forest strongly opposed non-residential uses for land north of Route 60, the Conway Farms Partners approached the Lake County Board in 1986 and 1987 to get the zoning changes they requested. The County Board acquiesced to their requests and now we have Conway Office Park.

Due to the Lake County Board's handling of the Conway Office Park zoning, now Lake Forest and Mettawa suffer from traffic gridlock in the vicinity of Route 60 and the 294 Tollway. We learned our lesson about the terrible effects of the Conway office development, but did the Lake County Board?

In 1992 and 1993 Lincolnshire, Mettawa, and Lake Forest followed a state certified process agreeing to a comprehensive plan affecting all of the undeveloped land touching the borders of these three municipalities. The duly elected officials of Lincolnshire, Mettawa, and Lake Forest formed the L.M.L. Committee and formally approved this Comprehensive Land Agreement which specified large lot residential and open space zoning for this

Against the loud protests of Mettawa residents, expensive legal resistance by Mettawa's attorneys, and objections by Lake Forest and Lincolnshire, the W. W. Grainger Company insists upon proceeding with their international headquarters office park in the already congested Lincolnshire, Mettawa, Lake Forest-Tollway area.

Just as the Lake County Board joined the Highwood, Lake Forest, Highland Park (H.L.H.) Plan for Fort Sheridan, the Lake County Board should support the legally constituted L.M.L. Committee agreement and resist the efforts of an industrial developer to break the existing residential zoning as well as the L.M.L. planned zoning.

The L.M.L. area does not need more precedent setting commercial development with its attendant increase in traffic.

For many, an outing at the bowling lanes is reserved for a rainy day. Why, then, did more than 300 bowlers gather at Hawthorn Lanes in Vernon Hills when the weather outside was near perfect April 24?

The answer is simple and well-meaning. They came to raise funds and to "Bowl for Kids' Sake" for the Lake County Big Brothers and Big Sisters organi-

Big Brothers and Big Sisters matches children who come from single-parent families with adult volunteers who stand in as big brothers and big sisters for three to five hours a week for a year.

According to Harry Nicol, Executive Director of Lake County Big Brothers and Big Sisters, there are approximately 100 Big Brothers and Big Sisters matched with 100 children and another 65 on a waiting list.

"We hope to maintain and to expand more Big Brothers and Big Sisters so we can match them with more children," Nicol said. "We don't lack children to be matched."

Right now, there are more than 3,000 kids from single-parent homes in Lake County.

Nicol noted that single-parent families tend to be poor, with 80 percent of the children matched coming from families earning less than $20,000 a year.

"Children from single-parent homes have a much greater likelihood to drop out of school, to be abusers of alcohol and other drugs, and to fall into patterns of depression," Nicol said.

"Bowl for Kids' Sake" is a nationwide bowl-a-thon. In Lake County, others participated in the bowl-a-thon at Bertrand Lanes in Waukegan.

Nicol said he hopes to raise $60,000 through both bowl-athons.

Bowlers sought pledges from friends, neighbors and co-workers for each pin knocked down or for each game in general.

Area businesses also extended a giving hand as 20 different corporations donated $250 to sponsor a lane. Overall, $10,000 was raised through corporate spon-

"We thought it would be a good idea to work for Lake County as a whole for our kids," said Colleen Kasting, Village Clerk in Mundelein.

All in all, kids of all ages, their parents and business representatives gave up the perfect weather outside to "Bowl for Kids' Sake."

Provide healthier, greener communities buy planting trees

Without trees, our communities can take on the same properties as the parched, sandy deserts. How we combat this trend is a matter of planning, planting, and progress.

In the middle of the summer, as you walk down the streets of any town you can feel the heat radiating off the hoods of cars. Blinding sun rays reflect off store winders, asphalt surfaces feel mushy and everything looks dry. Research shows that without the "oasis effect" off trees and green spaces, urban areas grow hotter and dryer. As development continues, the expanding amount of paved surfaces causes the air to dry, and the demand for water by plants and people escalates. This does not bode well for our communities unless we start to do something about It now.

Researchers have documented the warming of our communities and Its affect on energy consumption. Trees planted to reduce energy consumption around homes indirectly reduces water consumption.

Without trees, residents of any community increase their demand for water during the summer months. Lacking the cool shade from community trees, evapo-transpiration rates increase, as does the demand for energy to air conditioning and the water consumers to meet those demands.

The amount of water needed for trees is insignificant compared to other domestic water demands. The average daily consumption of water in the home is nearly 100 gallons per person. A newly planted tree requires only 10 to 15 gallons of water per week—the equivalent of two to three tollet flushes.

During the 1970's energy crisis, we didn't stop driving our cares or heating our homes; we just built more fuel efflclent cars and turned down the heat. According to experts, a post drought period is not the time to stop. planting trees, but a time to plant drought tolerant species, and to conserve water to irrigate new and existing trees.

Planting trees is not the only component in this equation to conserve. You need to make the investment to maintain the trees that provide a landscape to look at and a natural energy saver as well. For every dollar spent to maintain trees, the benefits are returned in airconditioning savings, dust reduction, the slowing of storm water runoff and a greater appreciation in property val-

Established trees need an average of 1,000 gallons of water a year—the same amount that an average person uses in 10 days. However, sick trees are costly to treat. Drought distressed trees are more susceptible to disease and insect infestations. The cost of treatments or removal can run as high as $2,000—much higher than the cost of the water to maintain their health.

Planting trees in the "urban desert" requires an investment of time and resources. It is important to plant drought-tolerant trees and care for them properly to keep costs low while keeping their benefits high.

Even drought tolerant trees require watering until their roots are fully established. Water your new trees once or twice a week during dry periods, applying water slowly enough to allow it time to seep into the soil instead of run-off. Also a two to four Inch layer of mulch will reduce water demands by 75 percent.

Flowering ornamentals can bring years of enjoyment

With warmer weather finally arriving, many of the ornamentals will be flowering. The flowering crabs really haven't begun to flower however, many of the pears and Juneberry are. Usually the pears are single stemmed and anywhere from 10 to 35 feet tall with wonderful white flowers borne on the tips of the tree. There are several cultivars available. Some of the hardler ones for the Lake County area are the chanticleer and redspire, the bradford pear is much wider than either of the previous ones mentioned, however, not quite as which is wide like the bradford and seems quite hardy. Both the bradford and aristocrat do tend to become brittle and branches break off as they get older, so proper pruning procedures need to be implemented as the ornamental ages.

Another favorite of many landscape designers and gardeners is the Juneberry. Many nurseries in the Lake County area tend to grow this plant multi-stemmed. This plant does provide year-round Interest. Now it is showing white flowers and generally flowers all over the plant. A berry usually in June appears, hence the name. Juneberry and is very edible if you pick before the birds arrive.

In the summer a nice shiny, clean leaf appears on the grandiflora cultivars, while the fall produces riots of oranges, reds and purple coloring. Its light grey stems with its nice open wide shape do produce winter interest in the garden. Some favorites are the amelanchler, grandiflora, cloes select, or autumn brilliance.

The plant that should be flowering soon is the redbud. This plant produces a purple flower that is borne all along the branches and will flower for about three to four weeks. A large heartshaped leaf follows the flower. Be sure that this plant has been grown in the Lake County area since a northern seed source plant will survive many years.

Also, this plant needs a well-drained site and should be planted in a protected area. For these reasons some people tend to shy away from this plant. However, with proper site selection, this plant will bring years of enjoyment to your gardens.

Soon, the flowering crabs will be open.-by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect for Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth.

Tips for a beautiful lawn

Mowing actually encourages your lawn to grow horizontally and spread into a thick carpet that can choke out weeds. It's most beneficial to observe the one-third rule and mow frequently enough to clip only one-third of the grass blade. Why? Because removing more than one-third of the grass blade can create a shallow root system. A deeper root system is desirable because it allows your lawn to find water and soil nutrients more easily. especially in hot weather.

If always mowed in the same pattern, grass can develop a lean that results in skipped spots and an uneven cut. It's best to change directions every time you mow and overlap each swath by about 4-inches to ensure a smooth cut. Turn your mower on sidewalks and driveways when you can to help prevent scuffing the turt.

Mowing with a sharp blade set at a high cutting height is another way to help your lawn develop a deeper root system.

From Great America to Marriott musicals and beyond

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

When Jeanne Johnson was a little girl, she saw all the glitter and gold and desired to be part of the sparkling splendor.

It wasn't too difficult to achieve, simply because she was born with entertainment flowing in her veins. Almost like a fairy tale, the Libertyville child started out on stage performing the lead in her high school play.

Jeanne who now uses the stage name of "Croft," unlike most actors didn't grow up in a house full of hams, so the talents that blossomed along with her, was a paradoxical occurrence indeed.

Instead she was raised in a somewhat conservative household — her father is the former superintendent of Libertyville High School, Walter R. Johnson.

Beginning professionally as a night club crooner and one of the very first Marriott's Great America singers after the Six Flags amusement park opened,

Jeanne has gone on to perform in numerous stage productions.

Currently Jeanne is working at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theater in the ensemble of "Windy City," a musical of old-time newspaper reporters and dirty, old politics in the city of Chicago.

Jeanne plays one of the "Gruberettes," showing off her remarkable singing style and dance ability, as well as playing the part of one of the unconstrained cleaning ladies.

She also played in the production "The World Goes 'Round," and prior to that was a member of the national touring company of the same play; played the part of Fantine in the hit "Les Miserables" as well as a part in the ensemble which toured the nation for two years. If she had to choose, Jeanne said without a doubt the number one part she enjoyed playing the most was "Fantine."

A cruise ship was another of Jeanne's homes for awhile as she sang and acted to entertain vacationing crowds.

Some may remember Jeanne when she played roles in several Marriott productions including "Annie Warbucks," "Matador," "Evita," "Grover's Corners," years, I've spent about three of them on the road," explained a tireless Jeanne. She's looking forward to the summer when she can spend time at home in Gurnee with her husband, musician J. Mattes.
"Baby," "Big River," "Camelot," "My Fair Lady," and "Hello Dolly."

Jeanne said she enjoys playing the theater in the round at Marriott's Lincolnshire Theater. "I'm used to it," says Jeanne, who has been performing there for a long time.

Playing in a round theater with no backstage to quickly run off into, takes "much discipline," said the veteran actor.

A word of advice as far as the audience is concerned was explained by Jeanne. "They can be tough. And when you start to critique yourself (on stage) it "Basically for the last four can spoil your concentration. It's nice when you have feedback."

Come celebrate Cinco de Mayo at Transfiguration Church in Wauconda to help benefit the largest group orphan home in the world. Thirty-two Mexican orphans from Nuestros Pequenos Hermanos will perform authentic music and dance and perform their own Ballet Folklorico in homage to the Hispanic holiday, remembering the victory over the French army in 1862, giving Mexico its independence.

Founded in 1954 by Father William Wasson in Mexico, the home keeps families together by refusing to let any children be adopted while allowing their siblings to remain behind. This has resulted in more than 10,000 children passing through the orphanage doors, which now has homes in Honduras and Haiti.

The youths toured Chicago last year and will make a return visit which will include a trip out to Lake County via a Wauconda connection.

Father Philip Cleary is a Roman Catholic priest from the Archdiocese of Chicago and has been at the orphanage since 1984, now working as the director and chaplain. He has several old classmates and supervisors working in the Chicagoland area who invited him to bring the children to this area.

Father Bill Zavaski of Transfiguration Church had been Cleary's Deacon supervisor at St. Zachary's in Des Plaines while he was himself an associate there.

Cleary brought the children to that church last year, and afterwards asked Zavaski if he could bring them to Wauconda.

Zavaski said he has supported the mission ever since Cleary has been there, adding he became a really important part of the community in Des Plaines Mount

The children will perform several dances from different areas of Mexico and dress in costumes accordingly.

"The costumes are quite colorful and their dancing is really a pleasure to watch," said Lauren Zubert a parishioner at Transfiguration who attended one of the children's performances last year.

dances Several from the of Michoacan, Veracruz and Jalisco will be presented, along with a medley of Mexican songs by the Estudiantina, the Tambourine Dance of Thanks and a presentation given by Fr. Cleary.

She is helping coordinate their visit to Wauconda, which will give all proceeds back to the orphans.

"It's to raise money for them," she said. Their air transportation from Mexico was provided free-of-charge by Continental Airlines. The church, located at 310 Mill St. in Wauconda, will host the orphans on May 5 with a Mass at 6 p.m. followed by a Fiesta Pot-Luck dinner at 7 p.m. and a Ballet Folklorico and Estudiantina at 8 p.m. A select group of authentic Mexican Gifts will also be available through a silent auction. Tickets for adults are a $10 donation, while children under 12-years-of-age are $5. Those unable to attend may still contribute by mailing a contribution to the church, where information on sponsorship of a child at the home can also be obtained. Checks payable to "Friends of the Orphans" are tax deductible. For more information, call the church office at 526-2400.

Other dinner performances include May 2 at St.

Raymond's in Mount Prospect, May 3 at St. Colette's in Rolling Meadows and May 4 at St. Michael's in Orland Park. Several Chicago appearances are also planned.

'Foxtales' at Stage Two

This spring, Stage Two brings the stories of Aesop to life, with a rollicking musical rendition of his best loved fables, "Foxtales." Author Charles Pascoe weaves six Aesop fables into a fun-filled dramatization of the adventures of Sonny Fox.

Stage Two's second children's show of the season, "Foxtales" chronicles Sonny's travels as he sets out to find out about the rest of the world. Sonny plays tricks on the animals he meets in the forest without realizing the hurt he is causing. He steals cheese from the Crow, gets the Rooster to jump into the well and serves the Stork her favorite dinner on a plate from which it is impossible for her to eat. Eventually, these three team up to each Sonny a lesson about the importance of friendship and working together. When Sonny takes these other animals home to meet his father, they encounter another lesson in overcoming prejudice.

The play is directed by longtime Stage Two director and Children's Program Coordinator Norma Cribb.

"Foxtales" will have public performances on Saturdays April 30 and May 7 at the Stage Two Theatre. Showtimes will be 10 a.m., 1:30 and 7 p.m. Tickets are $3 and reservations can be made by calling 662-7088. Toby Ward, a physics instructor at the College of Lake County, has been selected by the Illinois State Board of Education Dept. of Adult Vocational Technical Education as a recipient of the "Connections 2000 Award" for curriculum innovation. Wards' "Hands-on Physical Science Demonstrations for Teachers" project was cited as one of 50 exemplary programs statewide.

Ward received $200 and recognition at the annual Connections conference.

His program will also be featured in the Illinois Tech Prep Innovators Compendium, a handbook of winning projects that will be distributed throughout the country.

Ward's science project was funded by a $30,000 grant from the Illinois Board of Higher Education's Dwight Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Education Program, The four-week summer program was attended by 28 third through eighth grade science teachers from 22 Lake County schools. They participated in more than 100 physics demonstrations to help them teach science effectively and stimulate student interest in physics.

The Florida alternative, a trip to the Bahamas

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Less than 50 miles off the coast of Florida lies the island of Bimini, the closest of over 700 islands that make up the country known as the Bahamas. What does the Bahamas have to offer that you can't get in Florida?

How about crystal clear waters, miles of powder white sand beaches and some of the best scuba diving found anywhere? That should satisfy sun and sand types. For the Vegas crowd, Paradise Island Casino and Cable Beach Casino will be most happy to take your money!

Cable Beach Casino will be most happy to take your money!

The Bahamas is divided into three areas. New Providence Island is where you'll find the capitol city, Nassau. This city has a long and colorful history. It was long home of pirates and buccancers. You can still visit the watch tower used by Edward Teach (you know him as Blackbeard).

Cable Beach is also on New Providence Island, five miles west of Nassau. Most of the newer hotels are located there.

Connected to New Providence Island by a long, high bridge is Paradise Island, also the home of the newest and most exclusive hotels as well as the Paradise Island Casino.

The other main island is Grand Bahama Island, home of Freeport/Lucaya. Freeport, as well as Nassau, are frequented by many cruise liners. Freeport is a "planned" city of the Bahamas government and has only been around since the '50s. A tip from Jim, skip Freeport. No historic sites, fair beaches. Too "planned."

If you really want to get away from it all, the Family Islands are for you. You'll find no discs, no casinos, few phones and fewer televisions. Skip Florida this year. Give the Bahamas a try.

LIFE'S A BEAR

The secretaries have left the building...'

Wednesday, April 27, was Professional Secretaries Day, as proclaimed by those folks at Hallmark: Just what is a professional secretary, anyway?

Actually, having a holiday isn't so bad, since I happen to be a "secretary," which comes in handy when I type up this column on my computer. But don't call me "secretary," if you don't mind. I could become violent and break a nail or something.

You see, I happen to believe that the word "secretary" belongs in the good old days, along with "icebox," "babushka," the Sears catalog and children who are seen and not heard (although I'm hoping for a come back on that last one). Thanks to movies and television, the word "secretary" has become a silly cliché, synonymous with one of two stereotypes: the first is a gum-chewing, air-headed, bleached blonde with a voice like Minnie Mouse, a dress tight enough to faint in, stiletto high heels and a 48 D chest. She's the one who thought he said "trains" when they were handing out brains. The second is a spinster-type who looks like she sucks lemons for breakfast and can recite the "Secretarial Handbook" backwards, like Miss Hathaway on the Beverly Hillbillies. C'mon, Hollywood, this is the '90s. Get with it.

Today's secretaries are a whole new breed. They're skilled, smart and dressed for success. Dictation is practically a thing of the past, now that laptop computers are commonplace. Typewriters have been replaced with computers, too, and only a foolhardy boss would dare to request coffee service. Even office hanky panky is becoming obsolete, with the threat of a lawsuit for sexual harassment lurking in the air.

So, what I want to know is, if everything has changed, why are we still called "secretaries?" It's time we put our foot down (no high heels, please) and demand a new title.

Here are a few possibilities: 1. Office technician, Administrative specialist, or 3. Clerical engineer. Those are all kind of '90s politically correct sounding titles, don't you think? Better yet, if any of you out there agree with me, write to me in care of the paper (or call Lipservice) and let me know your opinion-Yes, we should change the title "secretary," or No, we want to keep it. I'll let you know the outcome in a future column.

As for you folks at Hallmark, I have just one question-what about Plumbers Day? I have a great idea for a card!

Hubbard Street Dance fly high

Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, founded in 1977, combines the punch of an upstart with the measured maturity of a seasoned veteran.

Under the artistic direction of Lou Conte, the tireless dancers have premiered "Perpetuum Mobile" (Perpetual Motion) by Argentinean-born Canadian Mauricio choreographer Wainrot.

The dancers also reprised "In Praise of Shadows," a stunning 15-minute work choreographed by Daniel Ezralow and first performed last summer at Ravinia in Highland Park.

In this selection, seven members of the company work their way in and out of a fabric wrap-

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Magic seems to be in the air this week. First, something you wished for that didn't happen, does. Then, two unbelievable offers (business? pleasure?) suddenly pop up out of the blue. One thing is for sure, you vanish big time this weekend.

Things people over 50 should know about their eyes

Eyes change as a person grows older. But what's normal and what's not?

John F. Amos, O.D., of the Univ. of Alabama at Birmingham and chair of the American Optometric Assn.'s Clinical Care Center says:

 The need to wear glasses or the need for periodic lens changes is normal. The cause is usually an age-related condition called presbyopia, which is the gradual loss of lens flexibility

Inside the eye.

·Be alert for symptoms of eye disease, such as sudden blurred, hazy or distorted vision; frequent headaches; Itching, burning, watering eyes; flashes of light or floaters; eye pain or redness; double vision. But see an optometrist annually for eye health exam because some eye diseases, such as glaucoma, don't have early noticeable symptoms.

Don't panic if cataracts are diagnosed. Surgery Isn't necessary until the cataract reaches a stage where It affects everyday living. An optometrist can determine if and when surgery is needed and refer the person to an eye surgeon.

 Lifestyles often dictate a need for more than one pair of glasses. Multifocal lenses used for general wear often don't mix with sports.

 Expect to need more light to see after age 60. Increase bulb wattage or move lamps closer indoors and use a flashlight when outdoors at night.

 Expect to be bothered a bit by headlight and even Indoor glare. An anti-reflection coating on clear eyeglass lenses can help.

 Keep in mind that health problems, such as diabetes or high blood pressure, and prescription and non prescription drugs, can affect the eyes and vision. Keep the optometrist updated on these two greas.

A few heart-hitting facts

 More than 69 million Americans have one or more forms of heart or blood vessel disease, according to the American Heart Assn.

 Cardiovascular disease claims an American life every 34 seconds.

 Each year as many as 300,000 people die of heart attack before they reach a hospital. Many of them might have been saved, because studies Indicate that 50 percent of heart attack victims walt more than two hours before getting to an emergency room.

 Think hear disease only affects the elderly? Think again. Each year more than 170,000 Americans under age 65 dle of cardlovascular diseases.

Don't filrt with a heart attack. To reduce your risk: stop smoking; control high blood pressure; eat a low-saturated fat, low-cholesterol diet; maintain proper weight; and exercise regularly.

LCCS salutes seniors

Senior citizens, the month of May is ours! The Lake County Council for Senlors salutes all seniors and hopes continued good health is yours.

The Lake County Council for Seniors is a not-for-profit advocacy organization fighting for a better lifestyle, improved socio-economic conditions and senior rights. We also have knowledge of where to get information on seniors' problems and a referral service. We only have one salarled employee our secretary.

The Lake County Council for Seniors was formed in 1973 by a small group of people who felt the money spent on programs was not being used where it could do the most good. They began campaigning for Meals on Wheels, senior centers and improved communications between legislators and seniors. From that beginning, we have grown to become a well known force by both state and federal legislators.

We hold a Memorial Luncheon in May, where outstanding seniors in Lake County are honored. These people are nominated by senior organizations (120+ groups) in Lake County. A letter of nomination is sent to the Council outlining the senior's contributions, not only to senior groups, but to the community. It often is a very hard task to choose only 15 from all the entries.

The Council also presents "Senior Exposition" in the fall. Our "Expo" has been a success because it mixes fun, education and information in a day, along with a wonderful luncheon. The College of Lake County has co-sponsored our "Expo" since 1988, the twentieth anniversary of the college. They have gone out of their way to assist us in making the day a wonderful experi-

Our Advocacy Committee is very active and has several programs in place.

The Legislative Committee has already been active in the sending of petitions and writing personal letters to both state and federal legislators. Much remains to be done.

The Council thanks all those who have given us their support and time to help us help the older adult. Without your help, we would have a difficult time reaching the goals we have set.

Don't forget to write to your legislators with your feelings and comments on Issues of concern! They do read them and take into account the information they receive.

For additional information about the Lake County Council for Seniors, call 244-1720 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. by DUANE DEBBIE, vice president, Lake County Council for Seniors

Hey you

This is to the people who stop to let the ducks across the street at 134 in Round Lake by Ace Hardware. Good job! And to the guy who just had to blast past everybody and almost hit the ducks: you're a real knuckle head. Why don't you slow down.

Stop development

I hope people consider who they elect to their village boards. They ultimately approve builders permits. Our schools, park districts and other services are overloaded because of the builder's refusal to pay these higher impact fees. I think we should stand up and say enough is enough. People should go along Washington street in Gurnee and see the incredible over-development. It's absurd. We have to do something about

Don't like section

I'm a new resident to Grayslake, looking at my first copy of the newspaper and I'm appalled by the section 'Week of the Young Child'. There are all these wonderful things we can surround a child with to make him happy and healthy. This section is garbage about UN Covenant on the rights of a child. International arms control treatles seem to have something to do with child abuse. What garbage.

What's his job?

Why does Jim Fields get a salary from the township? Exactly what are his duties?

in 1991, we voted for a $2 million working cash bond referendum for the Grayslake elementary school system that would be used for revenue shortfalls over a five-year period. What the School board president, Don Stephen, hasn't told you is that we must pay that money back with interest by 1996. We don't have the money to pay it back right now and the state of Illinois limits this type of bond issue to a one time only issue. The Grayslake school system has a $400,000 deficit this year alone. Our school system is heading for serious financial trouble. What is the school board going to do about it? Parents, we must act.

Libertyville

you clgarette smokers who throw your digarette butts all over doorways, sidewalks, and on people lawns. The filters do not deteriorate and make such a mess. Animals know better than that. Just think of the waste in smoking when we could donate this money to schools and other community prolects. To guit would also save lives and help keep America beautiful.

Cleanup

I just spent several hours with some great neighbors, cleaning up years of dumping along the highway. The cooperation of the Fox Lake streets department and the Grant Township streets department made this cleanup possible. In honor of Earth Day, why don't you take a walk with a garbage bag and see what you can do about it. It makes you feel good.

Need proof readers

To Lakeland Newspapers: do you people believe in proof readers? Proof readers are someone who looks at your newspapers, conducts spell checks and reads for content. Your paper is full of errors. There is an article on the Wauconda Park District that is printed twice in your newspaper. There is an article on the Library Hill townhome development that is cut off In the middle. We don't know where it continues.

Better schools

I am an Antioch taxpayer. Why not let the parents of high school students pay a tuition if they want better schools? Let the teachers take a pay cut if they are disappointed about the referendum being defeated. The bottom line is someone should wake up the Antioch tax assessor.

Classroom control

I think It's about time the teachers of Gurnee Viking Junior High start taking control of their classrooms and stop handing out detention for trivial matters such as forgetting a pencil or a book or laughing in hallways. It's time that they start taking control of their classrooms like they did in the 1970s when they didn't hand out detention for such trivial matters.

No helmet law

In response to the wearing of motorcycle helmets. Helmets weight on your head and neck can be multiplied by a factor of 10 or more. There are more head and neck injuries treated by emergency rooms caused by car accldents than by motorcycle accidents. In California, which has a helmet law, there have been more deaths due to cyclists wearing helmets, than there were before the law was instituted. When you wear a helmet in your car, I'll wear one on my bike. The answer is to train motorcyclists to be better bikers so accidents don't even happen.

Woodchuck problems

How much wood could a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck were 6 feet under? We have a wood chuck and I need someone to tell me how we can get rid of it.

Wise up

To you who says that you are paying for the social security of Antioch senior citizens, that is quite a claim. But then if you are paying for me, who did I pay for during the 45 years I kicked in social security taxes? Your grandparents? I won't live long enough to get it all back. so there should be more than enough left for you. So wake up and gripe about something worthwhile, like who is paying for all the government giveaways to the many immigrants and welfare recipients who don't pay taxes. Wise up.

Mad smoker

I'm calling from Lake Villa. I would like to respond to Mr. Schroeder's Viewpoint, 'Confessions of a smoking bystander". I can't understand a man as vocal as Mr. Schroeder not asking the woman at the counter to extinguish the cigarette. I can't believe that he did not go to another section of the restaurant that did not allow smoking. If it bothers him so much, perhaps he should eat lunch in his office.

I think you should get the police over to question the coroner's office. I'm sure it was supposed to be 'pronounced', It also says see 'body on page 2' and I did not see any body there. If you're looking for a proofreader, my wife has been in the business for quite a few years. She is looking for a lob. Give me a call.

Believe me

I am not a liar. I woke up this morning with a pounding at my door from a Grayslake cop. He was accusing me of having my children's father over. They were saying he was here, then asking how often he comes over. My children were playing with the phone. I am not a liar.

suspended from their jobs for two days. How does it feel, just because you had your home phone number published. What's wrong. What do you have to hide?

Bravo, mayor

Mayor Davis, as a casual observer, I would like to compliment you on your diplomatic growth. There are those who would turn our Round Lake Beach village meetings into a debacle. You handled those Individuals with pure aplomb. What is their agenda? Political sabotage?

Stop the threats

After reading the brochure called 'Headline' designed to keep parents informed on Antioch High School, I was appalled. The front page listed all the affects of the referendum's failure, with the superintendent's bottom line. First of all, when are you going to stop threatening the students and the members of this community. We are sick to death of it. It states that if we would have passed the referendum, then these programs would be reinstated. We are tired of being fooled. The truth is that progarm cuts like sports charging a fee of several hundred dollars would still be charged whether or not the referendum was passed. You don't inform us of that. The staff also refused to stay an extra.hour on March 26 because of past practices. Also, study halls for the first three weeks of school were abolished by our oh so dedicated staff. The truth is that these issues all come down to money, not to the best interests of our students. The superintendent's bottom line says "It is time for the people who take pride in Antioch to step forward and correct this situation. Failure to do so will result in a high school that will be on a level with Round Lake, North Chicago, or worse." What an awful statement for a professional to make. I'm sorry, but if this teaching staff and administration is something to take pride in, then I am repulsed. As a former 'yes' vote, I am now a strong 'no' vote. Thank you for showing me the light. An Antioch parent.

Doesn't care

This is to all the parents who have children in the Round Lake Schools. I want you all to know just how Important the children of the high school are to the superintendent Mary Davis. One hundred students walked out of the high school and went over to show their concern for the bus drivers that are being terminated. They were not rioting or being destructive. They just wanted to be heard and have their feel-Ings taken into consideration. Mary Davis was not concerned about anything they had to say. She did not even ask them why they were out there. She called them all truants and said she would call the cops and have them all arrested. She would rather have your children arrested than have to listen to anything they would have to say. By the way, she did call the police and not one child was arrested because they did nothing wrong. I am a taxpayer in Round Lake and I do have children in Round Lake schools.

Not a Shirley fan

I live in Round Lake Beach, and I take great offense to the statement that Dr. Robert Shirley, the superintendent for the Antioch Community High School District, made regarding Round Lake Schools and our academic program. I'm really sorry that his referendum didn't pass, but I think It's terrible the way he bashed Round Lake. He compared our school and North Chicago to being worse than Antioch. I would put our students up against Antioch students anyday. If he is so free with his comments, he should talk with some of the Round Lake parents face to face. Then he would not be so blg and bad. -

Editorial note: His name is actually spelled and pronouced, Dr. Schley.

Angry parent

This is to Robert Schley, superintendent of the Antioch School District. I am a parent from Round Lake Beach and I don't feel that my child is getting a second rate education at all. I don't know where he gets off thinking that Antioch schools are so much better. He has a problem. Maybe he should take it up with a psychiatrist. He is supposed to be a leader, and he is leading the kids very poorly. He is starting more trouble than he can Imagine. I can never reach him on the phone because it is always busy. I guess he is talking to a lot of other Round Lake Beach parents. He should give it up.

No booze

To the Antioch Fire Department, why sell beer and liquor at the Antioch Fireman's dance? People drink and drive and we give them tickets for that. If we need to increase the tax levy, don't sell liquor to raise money. We pay enough in taxes anyway. Mad in Antioch.

Think community

I need to tell you that I am getting real fired of hearing about all the Antioch high school cuts, as well as all of the complaints. The reality is the children do need help. The taxpayers should be willing to invest in their youth's future. As far as getting rid of all the narcs, I agree, but they need to be replaced with security guards. The gang problems are pathetic, and the longer we let the school go down the tubes the worse it is going to get. So wake up Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhust. Vote

'yes' so we can have a decent community high school. Did you get that? I said community. That means everybody pitches in.

Have some pride

This is pertaining to the school buses in Round Lake. Has anyone stopped to think of all the drivers who will be losing their jobs after many years of service? Now we are going to bring in strangers to drive our kids to school. As usual, it Is always Round Lake. Where is our pride?

Motorola expanding, creating more jobs

NEAL TUCKER

Staff Reporter

Motorola's Subscriber Group announced plans to expand its cellular telephone operations by building a new manufacturing, engineering, and administrative facility in Harvard, Ill.

According to David Pinsky, public relations specialist for Motorola, the facility will be similar to the existing one in Libertyville.

"The plant will design, manufacture, and distribute cellular phones for the world," Pinsky said.

The need for the additional facility is due to the rapid growth the telecommunications industry. The increased demand for cellular phones over the past decade is an integral part of that growth and subsequently, Motorola in Libertyville has grown. Approximately 16 million subscribers in the U.S. alone have signed on for cellular phone service since it became available in "The city of Harvard met the attributes that were most important to Motorola during our search including that the location be within a reasonable distance to our Libertyville plant and that Harvard offers the flexibility for growth that the cellular marketplace continues to demand." said vice president and general manager.

The products the new facility is expected to design, manufacture and distribute to the world market, which already entails over 80 countries, include portable, personal, transportable and mobile telephones and the accessories that enhance those products.

This will be Motorola's fourth major cellular facility in the world and the second in the U.S. Essentially, Motorola will be doubling its cellular capabilities on U.S. soil. The Libertyville plant, completed just two years ago, houses 1.2 million-square-feet of Robert N. Weisshappel, senior space. The plans for the Harvard telephones for household use.

facility put it at roughly 1 millionsquare feet.

"We will model the new facility after the Libertyville location," said Pinsky, "We have a good work force here."

The Harvard facility is expected to generate 2,000 to 3,000 new jobs, a good number of which are anticipated to come from the Lake County labor pool. Two thirds of those jobs will be in manufacturing and assembly with the rest comprising administrative, management, and personnel.

The new plant will not affect Motorola's Grayslake facility, which manufactures cordless

Electric car points to future in transportation

BILL DERMODY JR.

Staff Reporter

Imagine commuting to work in a car that produces no air or pollution. Commonwealth Edison and the way, this dream may not be far from reality.

The Ecostar, a prototype electric vehicle produced by Ford and leased to companies like ComEd, Ford Motor Company have their is a glimpse into the future of transportation.

Powered by an exotic $40,000 sodium-sulfur battery, the Ecostar is perhaps the most convincing argument yet for the viability of electric vehicles. The performance of the car, a modified European Escort delivery van, closely approximates the performance of an economy car. Although a 0 to 60 mph time of 16.5 seconds may seem slow, the car's electric motor produces its maximum torque at zero rpm, allowing the car brisk aroundtown acceleration. With a top speed electronically limited to 70 mph, even highway cruising poses no problem.

Even with the high-tech battery, the Ecostar is still best suited to commuting. The vehicle's range is a little over 100 miles, not enough for cross country touring, but more than ample for a trip to the office and back.

Fully recharging the battery is possible in six to seven hours from a 220 VAC outlet, like that used by home clothes dryers. The pull-out power cord can also be plugged into a standard 110 VAC wall outlet, although this extends recharging time to 26 hours.

Manufacturers like Ford have been spurred to develop marketable electric vehicles in part by a new state law in California that, beginning in 1998, will require 2 percent of California automobile sales to be zero-emission vehicles. Currently, only pure electric vehicles can qualify as ZEVs. This makes production and sales of electric vehicles a necessity for See CAR page C3

Lakeland Newspapers has announced the promotion of Jim

Rabiola to head up its printing division. Rabiola, who has been on staff as an advertising account executive for the Great Lakes Bulletin, comes to his new position with 30 years of experience in every aspect of the printing business.

"We have always offered our customers commercial printing as a service, but never have pursued it thoroughly enough to create a separate division in the company," said Sharon Zasadil, operations manager at Lakeland Newspapers, "Jim will be providing the experience and the organization we need to expand our commercial printing efforts."

Rabiola grew up on Chicago's west side in the Austin neighborhood and attended St. Mel High School. In his sophomore year, he began working at a local company, Hautau & Otto Printing Co.

"I worked my way through high school working for the same company. I began my career by filing lead type." he said, "The old timers in this business will remember what that was like, long before the days of high speed offset and rotary printing.

After serving his country in Vietnam, Rabiola came back to printing, raising some capital with an acquaintance who already had a fledgling printing firm started. He knew for sure then that he was in the right business for his talents. The company's gross receipts increased-by 700% in the first 18 months.

During his three decades in printing, Rabiola has developed the knowledge and the resources necessary to give his clients both the utmost in quality and value for all their printing needs. With this wide array of experiencecoupled with his personal philosophy on how to deal with people, Rabiola prefers to title himself as a printing consultant.

"It has been my experience, after a printing consultation with a client, that they generally save a minimum of 10% to 15% off their entire annual printing budget. includes accounting forms, brochures and flyers right up to four-color process jobs," he stated.

Rabiola is keen on the growth potential for Lakeland Newspapers in the printing world, and being such an integral part of the future growth delights

"I have the backing of a well established, well respected company in Lake County", he said, "this allows me to comfortably set up the kind of long term relationships with my clients that can be beneficial for both sides."

-Business and Personal Finance Bridging the gap of early retirement, financial considerations

With major corporations continuing to reduce their work forces, many people still face the prospect of involuntary early retirement. Still others choose to retire before age 65.

Whatever your reasons for leaving active employment, early retirement brings with it a host of critical personal and financial decisions. The best options for you depend entirely on your personal and financial considerations, including:

1. Your age at early retirement and life expectancy.

2. Your income needs. 3. The financial resources you have on hand or expect to have to meet your income needs in the present and future.

4. Prudent investment decisions that not only preserve your money but help it outpace inflation.

To assess your income requirements and financial resources, you need an estimate of how much Social Security you can expect to have at retirement. To obtain it, call the Social Security Administration at 800-772-1213 and ask for a "Request for Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement."

Complete the form and mail it to the address indicated. Within a month of returning it, you will receive a personalized statement detailing the amounts you have paid.

Remember that errors do occur. It becomes much harder as time passes to correct mistakes in your payment record. For this reason, the Social Security Administration suggests that each person check his or her record every three years.

All material presented is general in nature and should not be acted upon without professional assistance. If you would like our help in applying the general information to your specific situation, You may call Greg Seidler at (708) 680-0095. Seidler is a CPA and services

What home improvements are return on investment?

Homeownership often times wears two hats. The first hat deals with the fact that we use the property to actually live in. Shelter, both from the elements and taxation, are provided through owning a home. Often times we make the decision to improve the property with upgrades in hopes of increasing the value upon the sale. Although home improvements can generally increase both the appeal and the value, you might want to take a minute and make a few points clear.

When deciding to make a major improvement, bear in mind that you as the homeowner, will be enjoying the use of the improvement during the time you own the home. Depreciation through normal wear and tear should be considered.

For example, when choosing to recarpet the home, remember that although even one year of use is minimal, the carpeting is no longer brand new, as would be found in new construction prop-

Certainly fresh newer carpeting enhances any home immediately, and generally brings in more money than the same home with dated colors and worn carpeting condition. The idea is not to expect full recovery of investment from the buyer.

recently interviewed a respected local real estate appraiser and learned a few of the improvements that consistently bring a return on the dollar

Buyers expect things like roofs to be adequate and utility services to be in working condition. The dollars invested in updating electrical service in a home directly benefit the homeowner, and although are very important to a buyer, are expected and assumed to be in a home.

A healthy percentage of homes are purchased through the wife's perspective, which is the reason the modernized and updated kitchen can be counted on to return the investment.

Fresh paint and well maintained flooring contribute to the cared for look of a home and are found to recover a portion of the dollars invested.

Evaluating international bonds, bond funds

When interest rates began to decline in the United States, some investors looked to foreign bonds for higher income, and the strategy paid off-for a while.

In 1986, U.S. owners of foreign bonds realized a total return of more than 20 percent from interest payments and price changes. The following year, that dropped to 13.79 percent, and in 1988, total return declined to just five percent. However, money managers continue to encourage diversification into overseas bonds, because it generally pays off over the long term.

The short-term volatility of foreign bonds can be attributed to currency risk. For example, during the first quarter of 1993, Japanese bonds rewarded U.S. investors with a 16.64 percent total return, but Japanese investors received only 2.72 percent.

This happened because, during that period, the Japanese yen jumped 12 percent in relation to the value of the dollar. Had the dollar's value risen instead during that time, U.S. investors would have suffered. Currency exchange is unpredictable in the short term. However, analysts agree that diversifying into overseas bonds generally pays off in the long term.

There are two ways to invest in overseas bonds: Purchase them directly through a U.S. broker or invest through mutual funds.

Investors who purchase bonds directly seldom realize any price change until the bonds are sold or mature. If the interest remains stable, price fluctuation may never be a problem. However, if the country's economic conditions radically change, the bonds could become illiquid.

Purchasing mutual funds that invest in foreign bonds generally offers less risk and better diversification than buying individual bonds. However, such mutual funds are not without disadvantages.

Finished basements, I was told, can be much harder to recover. Finishing even a normal 1,700 square foot home basement can run anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000, and an appraiser can usually only allot a fraction for the dollars invested. If your lifestyle and family needs require a finished basement, then it is no longer strictly an investment decision. Just be prepared to recover less at closing, unless you've found a special buyer that is in desperate need of a base-think about how often that particular room is used, compared to a formal living or dining room family's week, the bathroom really is high traffic. An attractive well done remodeling job is then a very good investment.

If your family enjoys a pool, be aware that the investment may not return what you think. Inground pools are expensive to put in, and can be expensive to maintain. Finding a buyer that enjoys summer living with a pool is essential.

Harlan Dam, spokesman for Commonwealth Edison, stresses the environmentally friendly aspects of the vehicles.

"These are cars that will typically be driven back and forth to work," says Dam. "Then they get plugged in and charged overnight. Although the highest electrical use is during the day, power plants produce electricity 24 hours. Not only would these cars be using electricity that is already there, at night the [electricl rates are reduced."

"The fact that [electric cars] produce no pollution and are completely silent makes them ideal for urban environments," adds Dam.

Commonwealth Edison currently uses two Ecostars for public appearances, although they will eventually be integrated into Edison's fleet, taking the place of conventional vehicles doing utility work. ComEd will work closely with Ford to document the Ecostar's performance. The electric company will communicate information to Ford engineers via an "on board data logger," which records vehicle variables and transmits data back to the manufacturer each week.

Although the all-purpose electric vehicle is still years away, its day seems to be nearing. Ford's Ecostar offers commuting ability for two with up to 1000 pounds of cargo capacity. Chrysler's G Van, a larger electric minivan, made its appearance at auto shows around the country. Even the sports car isn't safe from extinction by these eerily silent automobiles. General Motors is currently developing the Impact.

Tax issues: doing numbers

Among those of our clients investing for their retirements, we have noticed an increasing interest in variable annuities. This interest has been triggered by the long decline in interest rates and by the 1993 tax increas-

The reasons are clear. Annual growth in annuity asset values are tax-deferred; variable annuity balances, commonly are invested in equity mutual fund subaccounts. But no investment evaluation is complete unless it includes consideration of its tax consequences.

Variable annuity values decrease when stocks or bond prices shrink, just as they increase in boom times. Nonetheless, we like variable annuities for those who recognize and are willing to accept some level of investment risk.

For the person who wants a) to develop a substantial nest egg, b) tax-deferred growth and c) to leave assets to his or her heirs, we recommend they go a bit further in their investigations and consider the tax risks associated with their investments.

Specifically, we urge our

How To Survive The Job Search By Nancy Sakol

9: I have just graduated from high school and would like to attend college in the fall. While I am currently employed for the summer, the only way that I would be able to afford college would be if I would continue to work while attending school. Can you please suggest any programs that would allow me to earn credits while employed? R.G.

A: Dear R.G. You are not alone. I speak with many people in your position. There are hundreds of colleges throughout the United States that offer what is called Cooperative Education which enables you to attend classes and work. There is a group called the National Commission for Cooperative Education which offers a free directory of colleges in the U.S. with such programs. You may write to the National Commission, Dept. WD, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston, MS 02115. I give you a lot of credit for wanting to further your education any way you can. Hope this helps.

9: I am very confused about the outcome of a recent interview. I had. I spent the better part of three hours with what I hoped was to be my new employer. Prior to the interview, I spent hours at the library researching both the company and the industry they were in. The owner showed me around the company and showed me certain departments for which I would have been directly involved if hired. Afterward we sat in his office and talked further. I proceeded to tell him that I felt he could save a lot of time and money by changing his inventory tracking system to one that my former employer used and thereby reducing his payroll by two people in doing so. The interview ended abruptly with a handshake and I was told, "we'll be in touch". A few days have passed and I contacted the company and asked to speak with the Owner only to have his secretary pick up to inform me the position was filled. Did I go overboard? A.W.

A: Sounds as if you sank. From the sound of your letter everything seemed to be going well until you started to give advice as to how he could better run his own company. In essence he may have felt that you were trying to tell him that he was not running his company efficiently. No one wants to hear that, especially from an outsider who he interprets as knowing "zippo" about his business. Next time around take things a bit slower. Save your great ideas until after the position is yours. Once you are on the inside and have a true picture of how the operation works, it will be more acceptable to have a "team player" offer sugges-tions, than for an outsider to offer solutions before the problems may be recognized. Dry yourself off and try again. Good luck.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

New winners keep coming at Wilmot Speedway

MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Correspondent

Four new competitors joined the ranks of the first-time feature winners for 1994 in the Budweiser Racing Series on April 23 at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway in Wilmot, Wis.

Kenosha's Allen Winker won the 25-lap sprint car main, with Genesee's Gary Dye taking the 20-lap modified feature. Scott Kuxhouse of Antioch took the checkered flag in the 20-lap sportsman feature. All three are the third different feature winners for their respective divisions as Wilmot has not had a repeater in its first three nights.

Roy Morrison of Antioch swept the season debut of the mini-modifieds by winning the into second past Larry Surleta on feature and heat race.

Kuxhouse and Bobby John Hensley ran the first six laps of the sportsman main just as they started the race from the front row, side by side, all around the one-third mile clay oval.

On lap 7, Dave Holden decided to try to make it three-wide going into turn three, but could not hold it, a spin triggering a scramble with Kuxhouse putting Midwest his .

Motorcoach/Seamate's Charter Service/Herb's Auto Parts Lumina into the lead as the yellow flag flew.

Hensley was forced to pit with a flat left-rear tire during the caution period. Ed Devall worked lap 15.

With two laps to go, Devall momentarily held the lead as Kuxhouse and he got caught behind a lapped car.

At the white flag, Kuxhouse took the lead back and went on to the win. Devall, Surleta, John Poshler and Rob Shales completed the top five.

"It was a tough race," said Kuxhouse. "Bobby John got the good starting spot because there seemed to be more bite on the low side. Then we came up on the lapped car and Ed almost got

Jim Sullivan led the first lap for the mini-modifieds main with Morrison putting his Nelson Auto/Enemy Racing Chassis/Antioch Dental Center home-built machine in front on lap two. Morrison pulled away to a comfortable win with Sullivan ending up second in a close battle with Dr. Ken Johnson. First-time competitor Lisa Heywood was fourth with Roy's brother, Jim Morrison, fifth.

"I built quite a few of these cars," said Morrison. "This was the first time out for this brand new car. It ran great."

Dick Colburn won the Biene Excavating Sprint Dash in a track  record time of 1:14.77; for the five laps, eclipsing the old mark of Tim Ammon's at 1:17.03 set one week earlier on April 16.

Fred Zack won the five-lap J&L Oil modified dash. Qualified dash cars for April 30 are Pete Ostrowksi, Zack, Cox and Uttech.

Wilmot Speedway, "Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed," will host sprints modifieds, sportsman and street stocks on Saturday, April 30. Grandstand gates open at 5 p.m. with the first race at 7 p.m. There will be no time trials on regular race nights this season. There are no more rain dates for regular Saturday night programs.

Lake Zurich standout heads to U of I

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Lake Zurich girls basketball star Nicole Vasey signed a fullypaid scholarship to attend and play basketball at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

The six-foot, one-inch center smashed Lake Zurich's rebound record with 1,132 rebounds and ascended to second on the school's all-time scoring list with 1,150 points.

"The unique thing about Nicole is that she has over 1,000 rebounds and 1,000 points which has never been done in the Fox Valley Conference," said Vasey's basketball coach Cindy Snider.

Snider went on to say that she had the privilege to watch Vasey grow up and develop into a basketball star for the Bears.

Vasey started varsity basketball for three years. She was named to the All-Area and All-(honorable mention) teams. Her teammates also honored her with three MVPs. Last year, she averaged 21.6 points and 16.4 rebounds a game.

"She's obviously talented," Snider said, "but she has always put her teammates first."

Vasey said her interest in basketball began in fourth-grade when she used to watch her three older brothers play at St. Francis Grade School in Lake Zurich.

"I always went to see my brothers play, and at half-time I would go onto the court and take some shots," Vasey said. Eventually, she would play for the girls basketball team.

She also thinks that her older brothers had a lot to do with her development as a basketball player.

"They were always pushing me," Vasey said of her brothers.

Her parents, she said, played a hand in her development as well, as they encouraged her to participate in many basketball

Some of the camps she participated in included the Blue Star Camp at Indiana State University, the Hi-Five Camp in Naperville, and last June, she was a member of the girls basketball squad that captured the title at the Prairie State Games.

"You have to show the colleges who you are," Vasey said of the importance of attending basketball camps. "They're not looking for you. You have to try to get noticed."

Although she has not chosen a major yet, she said she is leaning towards accounting and elementary education. But she plans on maintaining good grades and practicing hard enough to earn a starting spot on the Illini team. She is even playing on the Bears soccer team this spring to stay in shape, she said.

"I'm really happy," Vasey said of her scholarship. "I didn't think I could play Division I."

Her high school basketball coach said Vasey was a role model for her peers and younger children, and she thinks Vasey will be a hit at Illinois.

"If she maintains her positive outlook, she'll be successful both on and off the court," Snider said of her high school star center who will be playing in the Big Ten next

MICHAEL FOHRMAN OF FOHRMAN DODGE

Of all the major sports events in America, which one has been held the most consecutive years?... Answer is the Kentucky Derby...It has been run every year since 1875... No other major sports event can match that...For instance, the first World Series was not held till 1903, the first football bowl game was in 1902, the first Indianapolis-500 was in 1911, the first U.S. Open golf tournament was in 1895, and so it goes.

What score does the average golfer in America shoot?...The answer may surprise you...According to a survey by the National Golf Foundation, the average non-pro golfer shoots about 97 for 18 holes... They say only one-third of all golfers regularly break 90, and only 8 percent shoot in the 70's.

Why is a first-year player in sports called a "rookie"?... The name came from chess, where the rook is often the last piece played...In the early days of baseball, first-year players were usually the last used...They became known as "rooks" or 'rookies".

I bet you didn't know...

Misiek hitting his stride, hopes big leagues notice

STEVE PETERSON

Mark Misiek is concluding his collegiate baseball career with a

The Grant High School graduate is the leading hitter for Northeastern Illinois team and is, in fact, leading the East Coast Conference.

Misick, who has had a varied baseball career, may not have been one of the natural athletes that strikes fear into little league pitchers, but has steadily improved since his days at Grant and the College of Lake County.

"Mark has had to work for everything he has got," CLC

Coach Gene Hanson said.

Misiek has adjusted to college pitchers. He hit .335 last year for the Golden Eagles and this year is topping the .400 mark at .415.

"Pitchers are around the plate all the time. At Grant, I was more of an opposite field hitter. At CLC, I pulled the ball more," Misiek

With half the season complete at the Chicago college, Misiek is hoping for someone to notice him in the upcoming June major league draft.

"I'd like to play pro ball," he said.

"They usually don't draft someone who is a senior, but he may have a better chance with free agency," Northeastern Coach Jim Hawrysko said.

Misiek, going into a weekend series with Northern Illinois, had 10 doubles, 4 triples and 4 home runs and 37 RBIs.

"He has great knowledge of the strike zone. He bats third and that is where good hitters hit such as Ryne Sandberg," Hawrysko said. "Mark is the first one to batting practice and the last one to leave."

Misiek's high school coach, Fritz Kazlausky, agrees.

"He is a very determined young man and I am sure that carried over to his college career.

If things go wrong, he would work on them. He was a lot like Brett Butler of Libertyville," Kazlausky said. Butler plays for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hanson said he liked Misiek's versatility. Misiek played outfield as well as turning double plays Karolewicz. with Steve Karolewicz is now playing for University of Arkansas -- Little Rock.

"He turns a great double play," Hawrysko said. A sophomore, Matt Majherck, joined the Golden Eagles with Misiek.

Misiek hit .340 his second year at CLC. He had attended the University of Evansville for a while before coming back to Grayslake.

Northeastern, a division II school, plays a challenging schedule against Big Ten and Big Eight teams. The Golden Eagles were 13-22 with 22 games left.

"We wanted a better season, but we can still get back to .500," Misiek said.

"A lot can change in a hurry in baseball. We are playing state schools now and I think we are in control of our own destiny," Hawrysko said.

Misiek will always be in control of his with his work ethic.

Olson powers CLC hitters, more work needed

Hitting alone does not win baseball games.

Coaches, from little league to big league managers, preach this, but sometimes, lessons come hard. Just ask the College of Lake County baseball team.

The Lancers failed to defend their Skyway Conference title and then lost a doubleheader to South Suburban while still hitting the ball well.

The Lancers had destiny in their own hands following a 6-2 win over Morton Saturday. A win in game two would have secured a tie for the conference title, but Morton prevailed 8-4. The Sunday doubleheader is something the team would like to forget, a 19-6 loss followed by an 11-5 defeat.

"It is a matter of how hard we want to play. The first game against South Suburban, we just gave up. In the second game, the people who were supposed to pitch did not because they were being disciplined for not being ready to do the job. It's up to the kids. Individually and as a team, they have ability," a frustrated CLC Coach Gene Hanson said.

Through all the turmoil and missed chances, Bob Olson and Kurt Bruksch continued to swing hot bats. Olson is back to .500 territory following a 4-hit day Sunday.

"Olson has dominated the last 6 or 7 doubleheaders. Bruksch was hurt, but now he is right behind Olson," Hanson said.

Olson is a Warren Twp. High grad.

CLC is 29-18 with 9 games left before post-season play. CLC is at the N4C-Skyway tourney April 29 and 30. The Lancers host Milwaukee May 1 in a noon doubleheader.

Derek Hart provided the highlight for the pitching staff, fanning 11 in the first game against

"That was the best game he as pitched in two years. He is just smarter. Last year, he was a thrower, this year, he is a pitcher," Hanson said of the Round Lake High grad.

CLC had 14 hits in that game. Dean Clark had 3 hits, Bruksch, Matt Pulaski, Curt Salata and Steve Taylor had 2.

runs in their last two innings.

CLC was down 9-1 in the first game before a mild rally.

Taylor clubbed an RBI single in the fourth and Scott Ellenwood doubled in the fifth and scored on an error for a 9-4 deficit.

Bruksch nailed another long ball in the seventh inning, to cen-

Technical College 14-4 and 7-5. Scott Schupp gained the first game win, Josh Williamson improved to 3-0 with a win in game two.

Heath Cummings' 2-run double in the fifth ended the game on the 10-run rule.

Pulaski won the second game with a two-out, pinch hit single in

Hitting gives Lancers Skyway loop softball crown

One of the most explosive offensive attacks came at a good time for College of Lake County's softball team. The Lancers coupled strong pitching with some power hitting in sweeping Morton 4-2 and 8-2 to claim the Skyway Conference title. The hitting continued in a 13-3, 17-11 sweep of Marquette and a 10-3 win over Triton. DuPage, which is state-ranked, was the only team to stop the CLC bats, 2-0.

"This year, we are hitting the ball with some power," Coach Sue Garcia said.

For example, against Marquette, April Kilman had a grand slam and a 3-run homer. Against Morton, in the second game, Kelly Damron blasted a 2-run homer.

"Damron has been hitting the ball well. She was on a 13-game hitting streak," Garcia said.

Both Kilman and Damron are Antioch High graduates.

Beth Smith won the first game against Morton and the first Marquette game but lost to DuPage for a 16-7 record.

In addition to Kilman and Damron, Terrilyn Starkey has been getting extra-base hits.

CLC, 22-14 overall, is at topranked Kankakee April 30.

In the Marquette doubleheader, Amy Drinan was 3-for-6 with a double, Jenny Wilbur 2for-3, Erin Kline 2-for-4 and Michelle Gamble 2-for-3. CLC scored 10 runs in the first inning of the second game.

"Marquette is not a strong club and we hit the ball well," Garcia said.

Garcia was somewhat concerned about the twinbill at Morton. "I was worried, but we have been playing solid ball. It was nice to take the conference," Garcia said.

This was CLC's third league title in four years.

Kilman and Gamble provided the early spark in game one.

Dawn Morley, a Grant grad, had a 2-run single before Damron hit her homer.

The Lancers knew they would be in for a tough test Sunday at DuPage.

"I knew this one would come down to who made that one mistake. Beth outpitched them," Garcia said.

The Chaps scored their runs on the same play. After a fly ball was caught, two runners scored as the throw was misplayed.

Smith had 5 strikeouts and 3 walks in her 3-hitter.

Vikes to offer mini-camp

Lake County Vikings will kickoff the Kurt Kampendahl era with a mini-camp May 1.

The semi-pro football team will hold the workout at 12:30 p.m. at Round Lake High's practice field.

"Players will be tested in the 40-yard dash, there will be football drills and position drills," coowner Rick Starosta said.

The Vikings compete in the Midwest Football League. The league will have 9 teams and 3 divisions. In the north, Racine, Lake County and Chicago Thunder will clash. In the Chicago division, the Panthers, Bulldogs and Falcons will battle.

Palos-Orland Force, Chicago Heights Broncos and Indiana Reneges make up the Southern division.

The division winners plus the next three best records make the playoffs. Starosta said there is much interest in the new season.
